"READ AND YOU WILL KNOW."

The Albany Atlas & Argus and other papers thus refer to their merits:

Hubbel & Co.'s Golden Bitters.—We take pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to the Golden Bitters, prepared by Hubbel &Co., of Hudson, N. Y. These Bitters, although only recently brought into the market, have acquired a marked degree of public favor, which must soon create for them a very general demand all over the country. They are composed of the gentian root, calisaya bark, sassafras, calamus, and other of the best approved vegetable remedies, preserved in Jamaica rum; and, aside from their conceded excellence as a remedy for dyspepsia, heartburn and nervous debility, are unequalled as a pleasant and invigorating beverage, encouraging a healthful appetite, and imparting buoyancy to the body. We feel perfectly safe in recommending them not only for their purity, but for their remarkable qualities.

Hubbel & Co.'s Celebrated Golden Bitters.—We would especially invite our readers' attention to a new advertisement in this issue, of the celebrated "Golden Bitters" of Hubbel & Co., New-York. These Bitters are pronounced by the best physicians in the State to be the greatest tonic in the known world, and the remarkable sale of the medicine is due proof of its value in dyspepsia, heartburn, nervous debility, sea-sickness, &c. The medicine, among other invaluable medicinal herbs and roots in the vegetable kingdom, contains gentian root, calisaya bark, calamus, &c. Geo. C. Hubbel is a gentleman, and would not lend his name to the manufacture or sale of any medicine, were he not entirely sure of its being what he recommends it. This fact alone is a sufficient guarantee of the efficacy of the medicine.—Syracuse Constitutionalist and State Free Trader.

Gold Above Par!—Our metalic currency now commands above fifty per cent. premium. The Golden Bitters, prepared by Hubbel & Co., are a still greater percentage in value above all other Bitters, by whomsoever prepared. These Bitters are a sure remedy for dyspepsia, and also for liver complaints and jaundice. They are drugged with no mineral substance, and contain the purest of the bitter herbs known to botanists, while the "spirit in which they are preserved is warranted to be of the purest and best of imported Jamaica Rum." The fact that our best physicians use the Bitters extensively in their practice, and recommend them as the best preparation they can prescribe to their patrons for the cases alluded to; and for loss of appetite and nervous derangement warrants us in naming the "Golden Bitters" as the safest and best tonic yet discovered. Many varieties of Bitters are advertised, but experience teaches that the Golden Bitters is the tonic most worthy the public confidence. The Bitters are prepared at the extensive laboratory of George C. Hubbel & Co., Hudson, New-York, and are for sale in this City by S. O. Gleason, D. W. Jones, and R. S. & G. Drake, and by most other respectable druggists and wholesale merchants throughout the country.—Troy Daily Press.

Golden Bitters.—A few months ago we thought that the best tonic and Bitters known was that of Drake & Co.'s "Plantation Bitters," but suddenly there appears in the market an article called "Golden Bitters"—put up in elegant style, (each bottle being in a card box); curiosity led us to try it, when, to our surprise, we found it to contain all the life and exhilarating qualities of a pure tonic, and more pleasant than any other; from the numerous testimonials, it appears to distance all in the cure of dyspepsia and loss of appetite, and many diseases too numerous to mention. Our advice is, let no household be without it.—Baltimore Critic.

Hubbel's Golden Bitters.—Several months ago we met a friend who was suffering with dyspepsia in its most aggravated form, he being but a wreck of his former self, and when we parted from him it was with the sad conviction that we should probably never see our friend again a living man. Nearly a year had elapsed since that time, when the other day we met him again, to our surprise and joy, the very personification of health and happiness. We were not slow to inquire how he had saved himself, and restored his health and vigor.

"It was by the use of an article within the reach of everybody," he replied, "and that is nothing more nor less than Hubbel's Golden Bitters." Such testimony as this should not be lost upon those similarly afflicted.—Chatham Courier.

Golden Bitters.—We have been advertising these Bitters for some time past, but for some reason or other they have escaped our editorial notice, and we therefore give it now. The Golden Bitters have now been before the public for some time, and are universally admired. There seems to be something about them which stimulates the action of the body, imparts vigor and vivacity to the system, exhilarates the frame, and gives a healthy tone to the action of every portion of the human edifice, without leaving any of the deleterious effects so often occasioned by the use of infeiror stimulants. Those in want of a good article will find it in the Golden Bitters.—Staten Island Journal.

Golden Bitters.—This pure and safe tonic should be used in every family, and, to judge from the demand, we should say it is in universal use already. Its excellent qualities as a tonic are indisputable, and we advise those who have not already done so to give it a trial. It can be procured of all respectable druggists, grocers, hotels and restaurants, and also of the wholesale agents, Messrs. Cornwell & Johnson, Army and Navy Exchange, opposite Willard's Hotel.—The Programme, Washington, D. C.

☞ We congratulate Messrs. Hubbel & Co. on their success in meeting a want so much felt of a really good, healthful stimulant, which is fully supplied by the production of this most excellent article, and we cordially recommend it to the public.—Empire City Sketch Book for January, 1864.

Hubbel & Co.'s Golden Bitters.—No medicine of modern times has met with a success superior to that of the Golden Bitters of Messrs. Hubbel & Co. They have rapidly attained wide and well-deserved celebrity; and are at once the purest and the most efficacious mediciee of their kind. They are composed of the gentian root, calamus, calisaya bark, etc., etc., all the ingredients being vegetable remedies preserved in rum. For those most distressing, and yet common complaints—nervous debility, heartburn, and worst and most common, alas, of all, dyspepsia—the Golden Bitters act almost as a specific, while they are not only remedial, but delightful, serving as an agreeable tonic drink, as well as a capital medicine. The demand for the Golden Bitters has been something astonishing, and is a proof, and the best proof, of their really wonderful merits.—New-York Daily News, April 23, 1864.

DESPERATE BATTLE IN WEST LOUISIANA.

The whole City has, for the last day or two, been in the utmost condition of excitement over the news of the bloodiest fighting that perhaps ever yet occurred on the soil of Louisiana. Amid the many conflicting rumors now current here—for or against us, just as they may emanate from friends or foes—it is extremely difficult to get at the real particulars; but from what I have gleaned of the many eye-witnesses with whom I have come in contact here, the following may be considered as a correct summary of the affair.

It appears that on the morning of the 7th a cavalry brigade of Lee's corps, under command of the gallant Col. Harai Robinson, was far ahead of the remainder of our forces between Natchitoches and Shreveport, when they came suddenly upon a body of mounted rebels. An engagement immediately took place and the enemy were driven back 14 miles, to two miles beyond a place called Pleasant Hill. Here they met a force of 2,500 rebel cavalry, under Gen. Green, very strongly posted. Col. Robinson again attacked them, and, after two hours' desperate fighting, in which we lost 40 killed and wounded, and the enemy equal, if not more, the latter were driven from the field and pursued as far as Bayou de Paul, where, night coming on, Col. Robinson halted to await the events of the next day.

Early the next morning, (Friday, 8th,) they moved forward again, Col. Lundrum's brigade of infantry and the cavalry brigade of Col. Lucas having come up during the night. The enemy were prepared for them, and there was some hard fighting, with great losses on both sides, but by about 2 o'clock P. M. the rebels had been forced back some seven miles. It was about that hour that, in the vicinity of Sabine Cross Roads, we came upon a force of from 18,000 to 20,000 rebels, concealed in a dense wood. Gen. Ransom had by this time arrived with his command, and formed them into line as he best could. Gen. Banks having arrived with his staff at the time, and seeing the enemy in overwhelming force, immediately dispatched an order for Gen Franklin to come up, evidently wishing to avoid battle until all his forces were got together. Kirby Smith, however, seeing his advantage, at once commenced the attack with great fury.

The fighting at about five o'clock had become terrible, and although contesting every foot of ground manfully, our brave fellows could not withstand the overwhelming pressure, and kept steadily losing ground. By a dextrous concentration of strength upon one point, Nim's battery was overpowered and taken by the enemy, although belching out havoc among them to the last moment. Gen. Stone, foreseeing the enemy's intent had ordered Gen. Lee to withdraw the battery, but it was impossible to save it, as all the horses were killed. It was in this desperate encounter that one of the senoir officers of the battery, Lieut. Snow, was mortally wounded, and that the rebel Gen. Mouton lost his life.

Everything now seemed to depend on Franklin, and sure enough he came up with his men, dashing forward with them, and with uncovered head cheering them on. This infused new life into our boys and Gen. Banks and his Staff, too, were to be seen everywhere, urging and encouraging them. Gen. Franklin had two horses killed under him; Capt. Franklin, his son and aid, had also a horse killed; Capt. Chapman, one of his Staff, had both his feet shot off. But all was of no avail; the work our men had was beyond their strength, and at last they gave way everywhere. To add to their difficulty, that everlasting stumbling block of our armies—the wagon train—had somehow got in the way, the affrighted horses dashing through our lines, getting mixed up in our artillery, and creating a scene of inconceivable confusion, and this at a time when the rebels were pressing their advantage upon us!

But if all had gone against us so far, it was not so to end. Gen. Banks had sent word to Gen. Emory to have the Nineteenth Army Corps drawn up in line of battle, and our over-taxed men passed through, and took up a position in the rear of these timely reinforcements. These new forces, consisting of two brigades, behaved with admirable coolness and precision. They had taken a position just in front of a wood, where their strength could be only imperfectly seen. They quietly waited until the exulting enemy—imagining they were in possession of an utterly routed foe—were close upon them, and then opened a terrific fire upon the rebels that cut them down like grass. They rallied, however, and the work of slaughter continued until night closed in upon them all.

By this time the command of Gen. A. J. Smith, embracing the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Army Corps, had arrived at Pleasant Hill, and here the hero of Fort De Russey halted his veteran command. During the night our troops were all quietly and skillfully collected at that point. Thus ended the second day's proceedings.

Early the next morning, (Saturday, 9th,) the rebel cavalry was seen advancing, and Col. O. P. Gooding, with his brigade of Lee's Cavalry Corps, was sent out ad a decoy. They soon met, and some sharp skirmishing occurred, in which we lost some 30 men in killed and wounded, and the rebels as many—Col. Gooding falling back, as originally intended. Desultory fighting was kept up during the day, but it was not until about 5 o'clock that the bloody batlle, which I presume will be henceforth known by the name of Pleasant Hill, was at its zenith. Gen. Emory had formed his line of battle in a large open field facing the woods. Gen. Dwight was in the centre, Col. Benedict on the left, and Gen. McMillan's Brigade on the right; four guns of Taylor's Battery being placed in rear of the left wing, two in rear of the centre, and Hibbard's Vermont Battery on the right. Immediately behind Emory was the large gradually-rising piece of ground which gives its name to this locality; not high enough to be called a hill, but sufficient to conceal from the enemy Gen. Smith's troops, which were drawn up behind it—and behind these again, the Thirteenth Army Corps in reserve.

The plan succeeded well. The enemy coming out of the woods in immense numbers, made a terrific onslaught, first on Col. Benedict's left wing, the Dwight's centre, and finally McMillan's right. The fighting was desperate, and in spite of the havoc being made in their ranks, the rebels kept forcing the Nineteenth Army Corps up the hill, or rising, and got possession of Taylor's Battery at the left. Arriving at the brow of the hill, the Nineteenth Army Corps passed through Gen. Smith's lines, followed by two out of the three lines with which the enemy had commenced the battle—Gen. Emory having completely disabled the other. The enemy came on like men certain of speedy victory. The first line of them were allowed to reach the summit, but no sooner had the second come in sight, than Gen. Smith gave orders to fire, and the carnage that followed was something almost unparalleled in war.

"Seven thousand rifles," says the Era, whose account tallies very closely with all I have been able to learn, "and several batteries of artillery, each gun loaded to the muzzle with grape and canister, were fired simultaneously, and the whole centre of the rebel line was crushed down as a field of ripe wheat through which a tornado had passed. It is estimated that one thousand men were hurried into eternity or frightfully mangled by this one discharge."

Gen. Smith, determined to make the most of his opportunity, then made a desperate charge, aided by the Nineteenth Army Corps. The rebels were completely routed, and ran back to the woods, where thousands threw away their arms. In this gallant proceeding, which completely redeemed the reverses of the previous fights, we not only regained Nim's and Taylor's batteries, but took over 600 prisoners.

Among the casualties, full lists of which are given in our local papers, I am grieved to record the death of Col. Lewis Benedict, who was pierced by four balls; also, that Col. Harai Robinson was severely, but, it is yet hoped, not dangerously wounded in the hip. The gallant Gen. Ransom is also here, severely wounded, and is the cause of much commisseration, for there is not a braver young General in the army.

We are daily looking out with the greatest anxiety for further news. That we have very seriously crippled the rebel forces in Western Louisiana there can be no doubt, but though we have scotched the snake it is very evident we have not yet killed it, and there can be no denying that we have been seriously stung in return. Will the rebels now—according to their usual tactics—leave Banks, to concentrate and go and make an overwhelming dash upon Steele from the north, to crush him in detail? and if so, can Steele resist them until he can unite with Banks? Is not the rapid falling of the river putting our vessels in jeopardy? and are our means of supply for our forces put beyond all danger, if the report be true that the rebels have siezed a large quantity of our store wagons? These are all questions which agitate all loyal breasts here.

I was going on to tell you of the doings of the convention here—the grand tableaux vivants recently given at the opera-house for the benefit of our wounded soldiers—and a variety of other interesting local matters; but really, beside having already reached my usual limits, the sight of the Laurel Hill coming here with 400 wounded men—the knowledge that those three frightful days probably brought our losses up to somewhere between 1,500 and 2,000—and the solemnity that such events naturally throw around one's thoughts, preclude all desire for entering upon other and more frivolous subjects.

I will merely add that the health of the city continues good, and that our excellent Mayor, Capt. Stephen Hoyt, has taken such rigid precautions for enforcing the cleanliness of our streets and dwellings, that nobody here counts upon anything else than seeing New-Orleans this year—by God's blessing—enjoy the same total immunity from disease that she has experienced during the past two or three years.

REPORTS FROM ST. LOUIS.

St. Louis, Sunday, April 24.

The Republican's Red River correspondence of the 15th inst. says:

Gen. Smith's command began crossing the river opposite Grand Ecore that day for an overland trip to Bucksburgh, it being understood that Gen. Grant had sent orders for Smith's return to that place.

Rebel prisoners say that they had 25,000 men in the recent battles, and that they lost 3,000 in Saturday's fight. They left their killed and wounded on the field. Our loss on Saturday was about 1,500. Our wounded were taken to Grand Ecore. Our killed were left on the field of battle, and are reported to have afterwards been buried by the cavalry.

Gen. Smith's command consisted of portions of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Army Corps, Gen. Hurlbut's and Gen. McPherson's commands.

The same correspondent says great dissatisfaction was expressed with Banks's generalship.

Friday's battle was fought contrary to Gen. Franklin's plan; and both Franklin and Ransom protested against having the cavalry so far in advance. Gen. Smith protested against the retreat from Pleasant Hill after the victory of Saturday, wishing to pursue the retreating foe. But Banks ordered the return of the entire army to Grand Ecore. It was difficult to tell what the result of the expedition would be. It would require some time to reorganize the army; and if the river continued to fall, Alexandria would necessarily become the base of operations, instead of a point above.

All the forces at Alexandria had been ordered to Grand Ecore, and fear was entertained that the rebels might attack the former place, and destroy the large amount of army stores.

Alexandria dates of the 7th and 8th says that all speculators have now been excluded from that place, and the military authorities are to conduct all the trade, sending all cotton and sugar to New-Orleans for sale on Government account. Parties proving their loyalty will be reimbursed.

THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

Probability of an Early Movement—Rumor of a Fight near Warrenton.

Washington, Sunday, April 24.

There is a general impression in this city that active movements in Virginia will not be much longer delayed by the armies on both sides.

Rumors prevailed to-day in relation to a fight at Warrenton, Va., but the one entitled to most credit is that our troops merely fell back a few miles from that place for proper purposes.

HIS ALLEGED "PROTEST A FABRICATION.

Baltimore, Sunday, April 24.

The American having copied from the New-York World what was represented to be an extract from a letter from Gen. Butler, threatening to resign on account of the appointment of Gen. Smith to the command of the Army of the Peninsula, has received the following dispatch from the General:

Fortress Monroe, Saturday, April 23.

To the Editor of the Baltimore American:

My attention is called to an article in your paper, headed "A Protest from Gen. Butler," which supposes that I have written the silly paragraph therein contained. I have written no such letter. It is not the kind of letter I am accustomed to write. There has been no shadow of occasion for it. All, and more than all, the consideration to which I am entitled has been shown me by the Government in relation to my present command. I should not break my habit of not contradicting newspaper reports, save that, if not contradicted, it may effect others than myself.

Probable Surrender of the Town and Garrison.

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON.

Washington, Sunday, April 24.

A gentleman, who arrived here this evening from Newbern, N. C., says that when he left there on Thursday last the military authorities had received intelligence from Plymouth to the effect that the town itself had been evacuated by our troops, who fell back to Fort Williams, the main work in the rear of the town. The rebel attacking party is said to outnumber the garrison five to one. The impression prevailed at Newbern that the rebels would succeed in surrounding the fort and compelling the surrender of its garrison.

REPORTS FROM NEWBERN.

Newbern, N. C., Wednesday, April 20.

The dispatch steamer Berry, from Plymouth, has just arrived, with the intelligence that the rebel iron-clad ram attacked our gunboats at that point at three o'clock yesterday morning, sinking at once the Southfield in a collision, and injuring the Miami and Whitehead, which were obliged to retreat. Lieut.-Commander Flusser, senior naval officer commanding the Plymouth squadron, who has become so distinguished for his bravery, was instantly killed in making a desperate assault upon the ram, by one of his own shells, which exploded after striking the ram.

This ram now commands the approach to Plymouth, which prevents us from reinforcing our troops who have been fighting day and night since Sunday. Gen. Wessels, who has sixty days' provisions, expresses his determination to hold the enemy at bay until he is relieved. He and his troops were in good spirits. The enemy have made many assaults on our works of the most desperate character, and have been repulsed with severe loss each time. Our loss, up to the departure of the Berry, was very slight. Gen. Wessels, who is an old army officer, and noted for his cool courage, is very popular with his command.

Every house in Plymouth is riddled by the enemy's shells, the inhabitants having been sent to Roanoke Island.

The whole department is in mourning over the loss of our naval hero, C. W. Flusser.

The ram now has all the inland waters of North Carolina open to her, and there is no knowing where she may strike the next blow.

The authorities who have for the past two months turned a deaf ear to our calls for proper gunboat aid to meet these rams, will now, it is hoped, be satisfied that their presence is required in these important waters.

Firing has been heard all the morning in the direction of Washington, and it is supposed that the attack on that point has commenced.

Gen. Peck ordered reinforcements to Plymouth the moment he received news of the attack. They have doubtless failed to reach that place, owing to the presence of the ram at the mouth of the Roanoke. This ram draws nine feet of water. Her hull is fifteen inches out of water. She carries four guns, and is built much like the Merrimac. It is reported that she can make seven knots, but this is doubted.

The death of Capt. Flusser leaves Capt. French, an officer of tried courage, in command of the naval force. He is watching the movements of the ram, and will give her all the annoyance in his power until assistance arrives.

Gen. Pickett is in command of the rebel force engaged at Plymouth. There is quite a force at Kinston, which, it is believed, intends an attack on this point, in connection with their ram No. 2, now at Kinston.

Longstreet's cavalry has joined Lee in Virginia, and the rest of his force is on the way to the same point. Some of them, however, are reported at Weldon.

Many of the women and children are leaving Newbern for Beaufort. The firemen and citizens are ordered to be in readiness at a moments notice to meet the enemy.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

A gentleman who left Roanoke Island on Thursday morning, arrived in this City Saturday night, and favored us with the following particulars:

On Tuesday morning, about 3 o'clock, an iron-clad ram came down the river, passing the batteries unobserved, and attacked the gunboats Southfield and Miami. The ram was not seen until it was close upon the gunboats, and, passing across the bow of the Miami struck the Southfield under the guard, the prow penetrating nearly to the magazine. Capt. Flusser a moment before the ram struck ordered both boats to be put under full steam, but they could not be got under way in time to avoid the blow. The Southfield filled and sunk within five minutes. Capt. Flusser was killed by the explosion of a shell fired from the Miami, which rebounded from the ram.

The Miami being injured, fell back to the mouth of the river, and was there found by the gunboat Whitehead, which escaped the ram by passing through the Cashie river. The gunboat Ceres being disabled by the fire from the enemy's batteries, came over to Roanoke Island on Tuesday evening, bearing the body of Capt. Flusser, and information of the disaster to the Southfield. The rebel ram had full possession of the river in front of the town, and during Tuesday was shelling the town and the works. It is believed to carry three or four Whitworth guns of small calibre.

On Wednesday morning the transport John Faron carried up from Newbern two regiments, numbering in all about 800 men, commanded by Col. Warford. It is not known whether they succeeded in reaching Plymouth. The transport was seen passing down toward Newbern early on Thursday morning, but our informant could not ascertain whether the troops were still on board. The mailboat Gen. Berry, which left Roanoke Island at four o'clock on Thursday morning, passed the propeller De Witt Clinton, carrying women and children from Plymouth, having left there Wednesday morning. The persons on board said fighting was still going on, but the place must soon be surrendered.

The armed vessels at the mouth of the Roanoke on Wednesday were the Miami, Whitehead and the new "double-ender" Tacony, the latter having gone up on Wednesday morning.

The rebel ram is described by persons who saw it on Tuesday as being about 125 feet long and 40 feet beam, with an iron-plated casemate similar in construction to that of the Merrimac. It is very low in the water, not showing more than six feet above the water-line. It is very slow, and could probably be destroyed by the gunboats, if it ventured into the open sound.

Several hundred refugees, principally women, children and negroes were at Roanoke Island. The steam transports Thos. Collyer and Massasoit were plying between the Island and Plymouth.

It was feared at the Island that an attack might be made upon the canals between Roanoke and Elizabeth River, but the Gen. Berry, which left on Thursday morning, came through without interruption. The line of the canal is strongly guarded and fortified.

The officers missing of the Southfield were:

Acting Master Wm. B. Newman.
Acting Ensign Thos. B. Stokes.
Acting Second Assistant Engineer Wm. T. Goff.
Acting Third Assistant John A. Strieby.
Acting Master's Mate Geo. W. Pratt.
Paymaster's Clerk Geo. W. Brown.

Some of the officers and men of the Southfield may have been captured, but most have escaped. Few or none were probably lost. The Miami is uninjured. The ram is thought not to have used her guns whilst under the bows of the Miami and Southfield, nor could our guns then bear on her. The shell fired at her was when she approached.

THE PIRATE FLORIDA.

Interesting Particulars of Her Visit to Madeira.

HER MOVEMENTS AFTERWARD.

Cruise of the United States Ship St. Louis in Search of Her.

BLOCKADE-RUNNERS AT TENERIFFE.

United States Ship St. Louis,
Santa Cruz, Teneriffe, Friday, March 18, 1864.

Correspondence of the New-York Times:

When I wrote you from Funchal, Madeira, on the 26th February last, I had then no idea of ever seeing the pirate Florida; but on the morning of the 28th, what should greet our astonished vision but a rebel flag of fabulous dimensions, floating at the peak of a steamer anchored about a thousand yards distant from us, directly between us and the town of Funchal. At about nine A. M. we ascertained her to be the above-mentioned steamer. She arrived on the evening of the 27th, at 10:30 P. M., after a passage of eighteen days from Brest.

If any of your readers are gifted with an extremely lively imagination, they can perhaps form some idea of the excitement on board the St. Louis. All, even our messenger boys, were anxious to have a slap at her, (as they expressed it;) but they were given to understand that they were not to let bad company influence them enough to turn pirates and break the neutrality of a port, the head of whose Government had lately been our best friend.

The cases of the General Armstrong and Essex were cited by them as precedents by which we might justify ourselves, for they wanted to fight first and negotiate afterwards. Let us give Secretary Seward something to keep his diplomatic genius from rusting, was the frequent remark from them and some of the officers; and, in fact, I felt a little wolfish myself, but we had to bear it; and as she appeared to be very light we presumed that she had little or no coal. The latter proved the correct idea, and as we understood that we brought dispatches from Don Lewis, King of Portugal, to the effect that no vessel belonging to the so-called Confederate Government should be furnished with any munitions of war, we laid the flattering unction to our souls that she could get none here.

On the 20th Feb., the commander of the Florida (Lieut. C. M. Morris, late of the United States Navy) made a call upon the Governor of the island. A short time afterwards, our Acting-Consul, Mr. Robert Bayman, called upon the Governor, and entered a protest in the name of his Government against the Florida coaling. The Governor promised him (our Consul) she should have no supplies there of any kind. How far he kept his promise the following will show: The rebel called again upon the Governor, and told him that coal, at least 40 tons of it, was a necessary supply, as his ship was light and needed it for ballast. The Governor told him as he (the rebel) came in without it, he thought he could go to sea without it; however, if ballast was absolutely indispensable to him, that he was at liberty to take as many stones from the beach as he liked.

Our consul informed the Governor that the pirate was just as seaworthy without coal as with it; seeing she had nearly as much sail, in proportion, as the St. Louis, and that she had a propeller well for tricing up her fan, it was proof conclusive, that on ordinary occasions she did not intend to use it, and that coal was not a necessary supply for such a vessel, any more than shot, shell, guns, or powder, as it was nothing more than furnishing her means of offence and defence, and without coal we would be equalized.

1. The Governor ordered the rebel out of the port, but the rebel commander told him he would not go until he received a few tons of coal; the Governor then told him, as he had not a sufficient force on the island to enforce his order, he would authorize the commander of the St. Louis to enforce them for him, (he never gave any such order; if he had we should have carried it out to the very letter.) The rebel's reply I could not learn. The outside pressure upon the Governor was too great, and he gave her permission to take enough to take her to the nearest port, providing it did not exceed twenty tons.

I think the scales where it was weighed must have been well "greased, as the twenty tons loaded six large lighters." The Consul then protested against this, telling him that it was against the instructions he received from his Government, (these instructions were delivered by an officer from this ship to the Governor of Madeira, on the 22d February, and sent in care of Commander Preble, by the Portuguese Minister of State, the Duke of Loo Loo,) and that he might as well give him one hundred as twenty tons, since nothing was easier than for a Mr. Blandy (a coal merchant and a rebel sympathizer living here) to give the pirate an order to any of his vessels which he might meet at sea. For my part I cannot see why he could not go around the world in spite of any such hindrance as this—for if he can get enough in every port he goes to to carry him to the next, what more does he want. Immediately after we ascertained her true character, (on the morning of the 28th,) we hove in on our cable to forty-five fathoms, that being as little scope as we could ride by, as our anchor lay in thirty-three fathoms; we also loaded the small arms. This was all we could do under the circumstances. It appears that several reports reached the pirates, while at anchor off Funchal, that we were going to take her where she was. If our crew were allowed to have their way, they would have taken her at all hazards. After she received her supposed twenty tons of coal, she made preparation for sea, and so did we, but the very time that she left Funchal, on the night of the 29th, at 8:30 P. M., it was a calm, and we could do nothing.

In a former letter I wrote you Dec. 4, 1862, about our meeting the U. S. gunboat Kearsage in chase of the Alabama, and had we possessed that all-essential auxiliary in modern navigation—steam—escape of the pirate Florida would have been impossible, considering the circumstances under which we met at Funchal, and it only proves the more conclusively how little this ship St. Louis is adapted to subserve the interests of our commercial marine in these waters.

Our awkward and useless position in this instance, will again afford a striking illustration to the Navy Department of the value of vessels such as ours in such cases; and I trust that our merchants will by all means impress upon the Navy Department the necessity of substituting steamers for sailing vessels, and I also hope that you will urge (through your journal) the Hon. Secretary of the Navy to have a steamer stationed at each of these islands.

On the morning of March 1, a light breeze sprung up, and, as we learned that the pirate had shaped his course for this port, ("Santa Cruz,") we got under way. After six days' beating we arrived at this place, and upon our arrival we learned that the pirate had been here, coaled, and went to sea the day previous to our arrival, (6th March.) It is reported, and I think correctly, that she has gone to the East Indies. I find she has not been altered at Brest, as reported, for now she answers her former description exactly. I examined her very closely. She stows her hammocks, as the Kearsage and other boats of her class, but here the resemblance ends. She has a sharp-pointed head, long, low bowsprit and jib-boom, long lowermasts, short topmasts and topgallant-masts, and long mastheads, all of which are very slender; is bark-rigged, two funnels, one forward of the other, both forward of the mainmast. Her masts have more rake than any of our gunboats I have seen. She has wire rigging. Her armament consists of six 32-pounder guns of 42 cwt., in broadside, and two 100-pounder Bleakley rifles as pivots, and, according to report, 117 men on board, three of which deserted at Funchal. They report the crew as English, Irish, Spanish, French and Portuguese, and only one American. The officers are all Southern men but one, who is an Englishman, acting as an engineer.

During our stay at Funchal, no less than three blockade-runners came in and coaled; the following are the names, viz., the Grayhound, North Heath and Julia; they have every appearance of being very fast, and well-adapted for the purpose for which they are designed. They are painted lead-color.

The French line-of-battle ship Independence, left here on the 10th inst. for "Vera Cruz," having on board 2,000 troops of cavalry. Judge Dyer, the United States Commissioner to the Republic of Liberia, paid a visit on board the St. Louis; he was received with the usual honors. He sailed yesterday, 27th, in the Spanish mail steamer for Cadiz, on a visit to Paris. The United States steamer Sacramento, Capt. Walke, sailed from this port on a cruise on the 17th February, the officers and crew were all in good health. We are now expecting a Portuguese brig (Hortense,) from Calais every day, with munitions of war for the rebel steamer Rappahannock. How long we will remain here, I cannot say, but the officers and crew are all well. The following is a list of the officers:

Commander, Geo. H. Preble; Lieutenant and Executive Officer, Wm. F. Stewart; Surgeon, A. L. Gihon; First Lieutenant, C. M. G. Wm. J. Squires; Assistant Paymaster, J. S. Post; Assistant Surgeon, F. B. A. Lewis; Acting Masters, Geo. Cables, J. N. Rowe and Allen Hoxie; Acting Ensign, Hazard Marsh; Master's Mates, Peter W. Fagan, Franklin L. Bryan; Acting Boatswain, Geo. Brown; Gunner, George P. Cushman; Carpenter, Daniel Jones; Sailmaker, J. E. Crowell; Captain's Clerk, H. V. Preble; Paymaster's Clerk, James L. Nester.

SPLENDID OFFER FROM THE NORTHWEST

Eighty-five Thousand Troops Volunteered.

Their Services for Six Months Accepted by the Government.

Veterans to be Relieved from Garrison Duty.

The Calls of Ohio and Indiana Under the Arrangement.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE N. Y. TIMES.

Washington, Sunday, April 24.

EIGHTY THOUSAND SIX MONTHS MEN.

The Governors of the Northwestern States had another interview last night with the President and Secretary of War, in relation to the calling out of the militia of those States for six months. They agree to furnish eighty thousand men immediately, the troops raised to be regularly mustered into the service. The President has accepted their offer.

THE OHIO CALL.

Cincinnati, Sunday, April 24.

Gov. Brown has issued an order calling the National Guard of Ohio into active service for one hundred days. They will be clothed, armed, equipped, and paid by the United States Government, and report for duty May 2. The order says our armies in the field are marshaling for a decisive blow, and the citizen soldiery will share the glory of crowning victories of campaigns, by relieving our veteran regiments from post and garrison, to allow them to engage in the more arduous duties of the field.

THE INDIANA CALL.

Cincinnati, Sunday, April 24.

Gov. Morton has issued a proclamation to the people of Indiana, saying the Governors of Illinois, Ohio, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Indiana, have offered to raise for the service of the General Government eighty-five thousand men for a period of one hundred days, to perform such military service as may be required of them in any State. The Governor calls for twenty thousand volunteers, and says the importance of making the approaching campaign successful and decisive, is not to be over-estimated. He feels confident that this call will be promptly and fully responded to.

Return of a Maine Regiment—Murder of a Sailor.

Boston, Mass., Sunday, April 24.

A seaman, with a naval uniform, whose name is unknown, was murdered at the corner of Worth and Lewis streets at one o'clock this morning. Patrick Sulivan and John Cockle, were arrested as the murderers, by Officer Ham.

The Twelfth Maine Regiment, from New-Orleans, arrived here this morning, 300 strong, in command of Col. William K. Kimball. The regiment is one of the finest that has returned from the war. It is now quartered at the Beach-street Barracks, and will leave to-morrow for Portland.

Kansas Politics.

Leavenworth, Saturday, April 23.

At the State Convention held at Topeka yesterday, the following delegates were erected to the Baltimore Convention: A. C. Wilder, I. M. Bowen, M. H. Insley, T. W. Potter, J. H. Lane, and H. H. Lawrence. They were instructed to vote for Mr. Lincoln.

Gov. Carney has written a letter withdrawing from the Senatorial contest, which leaves the election of United States Senator with our next Legislature.

Destruction of a Machine Shop by Fire—Damage $35,000.—About 9 o'clock last evening, the machine shop and foundry of D. D. Badger & Co., corner of Avenue C and Fourteenth-street, took fire in the office from some unknown cause, and was entirely destroyed. The company had a large stock of ornamental iron goods on hand, besides a very large number of nine and eleven-inch shells intended for the Government. The damage is estimated at about $35,000. Fully insured in some twenty different City Insurance Companies. The firm will suffer the greatest loss in the interruption of the contracts which they had with the Government. The fire broke out in the office of the building, and the wood work was so saturated with machine oil as to cause the flames to spread with great rapidity and cause a great light. The gas works directly opposite were in great danger, but the gas was drawn off from one of the gasometers, and the exertions of the firemen prevented it from taking fire. Capt. Mount, of the the Seventeenth Precinct, and Capt. Cameron, of the Eighteenth, with detachments of men, were on hand, and rendered efficient service.

From Fortress Monroe.

Fortress Monroe, Friday, April 22.

The steamer Greyhound, Capt. Martin, arrived this forenoon, nineteen hours from New-York.

The lighthouse at Cape Lookout, recently destryed by the rebels, has been repaired, and is now relighted.

"THE PEN IS MIGHTIER THAN THE SWORD."

THE GOLD PEN—THE BEST OF ALL PENS,

MORTON'S GOLD PENS.

THE BEST PENS IN THE WORLD.

On receipt of any of the following sums in Cash, the subscriber will send by return mail, or otherwise, as directed, a Gold Pen or Pens—selecting the same according to description, viz.:

GOLD PENS WITHOUT CASES.

For 25 cents, the Magic Pen; for 38 cents, the Lucky Pen; for 50 cents, the Always-Ready Pen; for 75 cents, the Elegant Pen; and for $1, the Excelsior Pen. These Pens are not numbered, but correspond in sizes to Numbers 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 respectively.

THE SAME PENS IN SILVER-PLATED EXTENSION CASES, WITH PENCILS.

For 50 cents, the Magic Pen; for 75 cents, the Lucky Pen; for $1, the Always-Ready Pen; for $1 25, the Elegant Pen, and for $1 50, the Excelsior Pen.

These are Well-Finished, Good-Writing Gold Pens, with Iridosmin Points, the average wear of every one of which will far outlast a gross of the best Steel Pens, although they are unwarranted, and, therefore, not exchangeable.

MORTON'S WARRANTED PENS.

The name "A. Morton," "Number" and "Quality," are stamped on the following Pens, and the points are warranted for six months, except against accident.

The numbers indicate size only; No. 1 being the smallest, No. 6 the largest, adapted for the pocket; No. 4 the smallest, and No. 10 the largest Mammoth Gold Pen, for the desk.

Long and medium Nibs of all sizes and qualities. Short Nibs of Numbers 4, 5, 6 and 7, and made only of first quality.

The Long and Short Nibs are fine pointed; the Medium Nibs are broad, coarse business points. The engravings are fac-similes of the sizes and styles.

GOLD PENS WITHOUT CASES.

For $0 75 a No. 1 Pen, 1st quality; or a No. 3 Pen, 3d quality.

For $1 a No. 2 Pen, 1st quality; or a No. 3 Pen, 2d quality; or a No. 4 Pen, 3d quality.

For $1 25 a No. 3 Pen, 1st quality; or a No. 4 Pen, 2d quality; or a No. 5 Pen, 3d quality.

For $1 50 a No. 4 Pen, 1st quality; or a No. 5 Pen, 2d quality; or a No. 6 Pen, 3d quality.

For $1 75 a No. 5 Pen, 1st quality; or a No. 6 Pen, 2d quality.

For $2 25 a No. 6 Pen; $2 75 a No. 7 Pen; $3 25 a No. 8 Pen; $4 a No. 9 Pen; $5 a No. 10 Pen; all 1st quality.

THE SAME GOLD PENS, IN SILVER EXTENSION CASES, WITH PENCILS.

For $1 50 a No. 1 Pen, 1st quality; or a No. 3 Pen, 2d quality.

For $1 75 a No. 2 Pen, 1st quality; or a No. 3 Pen, 2d quality; or a No. 4 Pen, 3d quality.

For $2 a No. 3 Pen 1st quality; or a No. 4 Pen, 2d quality; or a No. 5 Pen, 3d quality.

For $2 50 a No. 4 Pen, 1st quality; or a No. 5 Pen, 2d quality; or a No. 6 Pen, 3d quality.

For $3 a No. 5 Pen, 1st quality; or a No. 6 Pen, 2d quality.

For $3 50 a No. 6 Pen, 1st quality.

GOLD PENS, ALL FIRST QUALITY, IN SILVER-MOUNTED DESK-HOLDERS.

For $2 00 a No. 4 Pen; for $2 25 a No. 5 Pen; for $2 75 a No. 6 Pen; for $3 50 a No. 7 Pen.

For $4 a No. 8 Pen; for $5 a No. 9 Pen; and for $6 a No. 10 Pen.

The "1st Quality" are pointed with the very best Iridosmin Points, carefully selected, and none of this quality are sold with the slightest imperfection which skill and the closest scrutiny can detect.

The "2d Quality" are superior to any Pens made by him previous to the year 1860.

The "3d Quality" he intends shall equal in respect to Durability, Elasticity and Good Writing Qualities (the only true considerations) any Gold Pens made elsewhere.

In regard to the Cheap Gold Pens, he begs leave to say that, previous to operating his New and Patented Machines, he could not have made as Good Writing and Durable Pens for the price, had the Gold been furnished gratuitously.

Parties ordering must in all instances specify the "Name" or the "Number" and "Quality" of the Pens wanted, and be particular to describe the kind they prefer—whether stiff or limber, coarse or fine.

All remittances sent by mail in registered letters are at my risk; and to all who send twenty cents (charge of registering,) in addition to the price of goods ordered, will guarantee their safe delivery.

Parties sending Gold or Silver will be allowed the full premium on the day received.

TO CLUBS—A discount of 10 per cent. will be allowed on sums of $12, of 15 per cent. on $24, and of 20 per cent. on $40, if sent to one address at one time.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

Our correspondent at Washington telegraphs that the President has accepted the eighty thousand troops tendered for six months' service by the Governors of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin. These men compose a part of the militia force of these States, and, being armed, equipped and paid by the United States Government, they will be used to garrison posts, thus relieving veteran soldiers from such duty, and permitting them to engage in the more arduous work of the field. Gov. Brough has ordered the National Guard of Ohio to report for duty on the 2d prox., and Gov. Morton, of Indiana, has called for 20,000 volunteers to supply the quota that State.

There is a general impression in Washington that active movements in Virginia will not be much longer delayed by the armies on both sides. Rumors prevailed yesterday that a fight had taken place at Warrenton, Va., but it is said that our troops merely fell back a few miles from that place for proper purposes.

A St. Louis telegram dated Saturday, says that Edward B. Benton, a native of Waltham, Vt., for nearly two years past a resident of Fort Pillow, and who was in the fort during Forrest's attack upon it, was examined at Gen. Rosecrans' headquarters on Tuesday, and fully corroborated all previous reports of rebel barbarities there. He also made the additional statement, that bloodhounds were used to discover the hiding places of those who escaped the massacre. He also says that reliable reports state that Major Bradford was shot and hung near Carrington.

CONGRESS.

The Senate was not in session Saturday. In the House, a bill was passed creating an additional Supervising Inspector of Steamboats for New-Orleans and Boards of Local Inspectors at Portland, Oregon, and at Memphis, Tenn. A resolution was adopted amending the fourth section of the Act of March 2, 1793, empowering United States Commissioners to take bail in criminal cases and providing them with a seal. The committee who investigated the charges against Representative Blair, of Missouri, of speculating in liquors, while in military command in the Department of Missouri, reported that Mr. Blair had not violated any law. Some remarks followed of a personal character from Mr. Blair and his accuser, Mr. McClurg. The consideration of the Internal Tax Bill was then resumed, the House having resolved itself into a committee for that purpose.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

Both branches of the Legislature adjourned sine die, on Saturday night, after speeches from the presiding officers in reply to the usual resolutions of thanks for the impartial administration of their offices. In the Senate Mr. Baily made a majority report on the Low vs. Niven contested seat case, awarding the seat to Mr. Low by ten majority. Mr. Shaffer made a minority report in favor of Mr. Niven, awarding him the seat by twenty-five majority. Both the reports were laid on the table. The following were among the bills passed: The New-York County Tax Levy, appropriating $30,000 for monuments to the New-York soldiers slain on the fields of Gettysburgh and Antietam; authorizing the erection of a public market in the Eighteenth Ward; amending the law enabling convicts to work commutation of sentence; the State Tax Bill of 5½ mills; the New Capitol Bill—it appropriates $10,000 for plans and specifications; Relative to the Common Schools in the City of New-York; Relief of the Peoples' Gas Light Company; Conferring additional power on Marshals in New-York; to amend the Brooklyn Charter; for the improvement of Avenue B. Gov. Seymour sent in a message in favor of paying the interest to all State creditors in coin, which was tabled by a vote of 14 against 13. A resolution was adopted authorizing the committee in the contested seat of Niven and Low to sit during recess. The Assembly bill taxing the income of citizens holding United States securities was announced, and referred to the Bank Committee.

In the Assembly the following bills were passed: Relative to the District Courts in the City of New-York; to amend the charter of the Atlantic Savings Bank; to amend the act relative to the incorporation of Insurance Companies; the Senate amendments to the New-York County Tax Levy were concurred in; relative to Manhattan square; to alter the map of New-York City; to tax the income from the United States stock; amending the charter of the National Life and Limb Insurance Company. The bill providing for the erection of a new Capitol was lost. Mr. W. Dewey made a report from the Committee on Federal Relations, on resolutions offered by Mr. Bryant and the Speaker relative to amending the Constitution for the abolition of Slavery, concluding with resolutions indorsing the President's Emancipation Proclamation as just, constitutional and statesmanlike, and instructing Senators and Representatives in Congress to urge an amendment of the Constitution for the final abolition of African Slavery.

GENERAL NEWS.

A case of unusual interest was brought to light on Saturday afternoon at the Essex Market Police Court. Mr. John D. Lewis, of the firm of J. D. Lewis & Co., wholesale dry goods merchants, doing business at No. 101 Chambers-street, corner of Church, was arrested on the charge of having conspired to murder a respectable merchant of this City, named John H. Anderson. For the purpose of effecting his designs, it is alleged that Lewis made an agreement with Jeremiah McCarty, and a man named Ackerman to put Anderson out of the way; that a sum of $50 was paid down by Lewis when the arrangement was made, with a promise of a much larger compensation if the object was effected. The two men quarreled in regard to a division of the $50, were overheard by a policeman, were arrested and made confession. Mr. Lewis was taken into custody and held in $5,000 bail.

The Fourteenth-street building of the Metropolitan Fair closed on Saturday evening. Previous to its closing a very handsome flag was presented to Maj.-Gen. Dix. Gen. Grant won the army sword by a majority of 15,782. Commodore Rowan won the navy sword by a majority of 130. The total receipts were over $1,000,000. The Union-square buildings will be open Monday and Tuesday. Notice will be given when the auction sales will commence.

On Saturday, the corner-stone of the proposed monument to Shakespeare was laid at Central Park. The spot selected is to the southeast of the Mall. The ceremonies were interesting and impressive, Judge Daley, Mr. Hackett, Mr. Wheatley, and Mayor Gunther making addresses. In the evening, the entire proceeds of Niblo's, Winter Garden, and the Museum were devoted to the fund.

The Stock Market was more decidedly firmer on Saturday than any day since the panic. Gold 177⅛ ℘ cent.

The Three Days' Fighting on the Red River.

It is now possible to get some idea of the late operations on the Red River, regarding which we have had such contradictory reports. In addition to the accounts we have already published, we give in this issue a concise statement from our New-Orleans correspondent. There were three days' fighting of varied character and magnitude, and each of them with strikingly different results. The first day (the 7th inst.) there was only heavy cavalry skirmishing, such as generally occurs when two hostile armies are approaching each other; and our horsemen whipped the enemy handsomely after a stiff fight, and chased them far from the field. The next day, other portions of our troops having joined the advance, they attacked the enemy again, and fought till two o'clock, about which time another portion of Gen. Banks' army came up and took part in the struggle. Gen. Banks himself now arrived on the field, and dispatched an order to Gen. Franklin to bring forward his command. Fighting had been going on with great fury for three hours, when Franklin, in person, came up, and took part in the battle. But things were continuing to go against us, when Emory's division of Franklin's corps, also in its turn joined the previously mentioned bodies, and the battle raged until night closed in upon them all. But we had lost very heavily in officers and men, very heavily in artillery, and had lost the field. The morning of the third day Gen. Banks had fallen back to Pleasant Hill, where Gen. Andrew Jackson Smith, the hero of Fort De Russey, had arrived with his troops. An excellent disposition of our forces was now effected, and when the rebels advanced to the attack, and fell upon our lines, they were met with courage and intelligence, but continued to push our advance until they reached nearly the summit of a hill behind which Smith was posted, when suddenly and unexpectedly he sprang up with his whole force, poured a tremendous volley with artillery and musketry into their lines, and this was quickly followed by a charge which drove the whole rebel force in rout. Having effected this sanguinary success, our army fell back to the line of the Red River, and took up position at Grand Ecore, near Natchitoches.

Such were the leading features of an action, which, in all its characteristics, in reverse and victory, illustrates the heroism of our troops. But it is impossible to comprehend why there should have been a battle at all under such circumstances. We showed the other day that we had a great military force converging on the Red River. There was Gen. Banks' force, mostly cavalry, from Louisiana, Gen. Smith's from Vicksburg, Gen. Steele's from Little Rock, and Gen. Thayer's from the Indian Territory—constituting in mass not less than forty thousand seasoned troops—an army sufficient to demolish and devour all the rebel hordes in Louisiana. Now, it must be remembered that we were the attacking and advancing party, that we had the choice of time and place and circumstance, and yet the battle was brought on by us, not only before the concentration of our entire force, but before any two bodies of it had got within mutual supporting distance, and it was only on the third day that Smith's column came up in time to save Banks' column from destruction. Not only was there no concentration of the various large bodies which were destined to coöperate in the march upon Shreveport, but even the body immediately under command of Gen. Banks fought in pieces. The first day's fight was with a brigade of cavalry. The battle, on the second day, in which also we were the attacking party, was opened with two brigades of cavalry, a brigade of infantry, and a battery of artillery, which fought till afternoon, when they were joined by additional forces, and these had desperate work to maintain themselves until toward nightfall, when Emory's division arrived and took part. It was only on the third day that Gen. Smith, who commanded his column as a separate command, came to the rescue, and gloriously retrieved the field. Had this column and Gen. Banks' been joined at first, we should have had much fewer losses, and no disaster; and had all of the forces, including those of Steele, acted in concert, we might have achieved our purpose and gained Shreveport, perhaps, without loss of life; for if the column of Banks and Smith alone could rout the rebels, the latter could have made no stand had we been still further reinforced by Steele. It is a great distance from here to the Red River; but the long rolls of brave men killed and wounded at Pleasant Hill demand a prompt and rigid investigation into the conduct of this battle.

Close of the Hunter Case.—The investigation in the case of Mr. John W. Hunter came to a sudden and gratifying, but not an unexpected, termination on Saturday. Its close was as extraordinary as its origin and progress. It grew out of the fact that two checks, one for $5,200, and the other for about $700, signed J. W. Hunter were presented and paid at the office of Mr. Cisco, the Assistant Treasurer, and the money not paid over to the Government. When the fraud was discovered, some days afterwards, Mr. Hunter, on seeing the checks, pronounced them forgeries. The District-Attorney, however, took the very unusual step of making an affidavit, accusing Mr. Hunter of having drawn them fraudulently, and appropriated the money to his own use. On this affidavit Mr. Hunter was arrested. The District Attorney associated with him Messrs. O'Conor and Gerard, two of the most eminent counsel in the City, to aid him in the prosecution. Mr. Cisco, sworn as a witness, testified in the most positive and peremptory manner that the signatures were genuine,—that he was not and could not be mistaken,—that Mr. Hunter's denial, under oath, would have no weight with him, and that if any person should turn State's evidence and swear that he himself signed Mr. Hunter's name, he would not believe him.

Experts were examined, and the weight of testimony was overwhelmingly against the genuineness of the signatures. Mr. Hunter was sworn, and testified that he never saw the checks till they were shown him after they had been paid. Peculiarities were pointed out which made it quite certain that they were forged. The District-Attorney, having served as complainant and prosecutor, next took the stand as a witness, and stated that he acted on Mr. Cisco's urgent representations in making the original affidavit,—and that he was satisfied of Mr. Hunter's innocence. He afterward abandoned the prosecution, and the eminent counsel whom he had associated with him expresed their full concurrence in the conclusion he had reached. So Mr. Hunter is relieved from all imputation or suspicion of guilt in the matter.

The zeal of the parties concerned in this prosecution has been very marked: we trust it will not abate on account of the failure to convict an innocent man. It is now proved that these checks were forged; we hope Mr. Cisco and the District Attorney will now push, without delay and with equal zeal, the question who forged them. Some facts were brought to light during the investigation which may direct such an inquiry, and perhaps guide it to a successful result. We trust they will receive the attention to which they are entitled. Mr. Cisco certainly owes it to himself to carry through the investigation in which thus far he has shown so laudable a concern.

An American-built Iron-clad on the High Seas—The Re d'Italia.

After the many unsuccessful attempts of European iron-clad vessels to encounter the rough ocean weather, we were scarcely prepared to hear of so triumphant a success for an American-built cuirassed ship, as has signalized the late voyage of the frigate Re d'Italia. In a letter from an officer on board, which we published yesterday, most reliable testimony was given as to her great sea-going qualities. Her whole passage from New-York to Naples seems to have been beset by weather that tested to the fullest degree her speed and strength. With a wind, and in a sea which has always caused the English and French iron-clads to roll and plunge to a degree that threatened their instant destruction, the Re d'Italia sailed pleasantly along, not only without apprehension of danger, but with an amount of comfort to her crew, and an avoidance of the disagreeable vicissitudes of a mid-Winter Atlantic voyage, known only to the larger class of steamships. She seemed, as this officer expresses it, "rather a yacht sailing with a fair breeze, than such a monster iron-clad of over 6,000 tons burden." And, although it is rare for ships of any kind to encounter such weather without leaking, it appears that during this whole long, stormy passage she took in no water, and there was no use whatever made of the pumps. This is the strongest evidence possible of her great and sufficient strength, and places her at once and indisputably far in advance of all other wholly iron-clad ships that have been hitherto tested. Her speed is also very satisfactory. Indeed, it would have done credit to any war-steamer, or even a first-class passenger-steamer, to perform the voyage from New-York to Gibraltar—a distance of three thousand five hundred miles—in fourteen days and twenty hours. From Gibraltar to Naples she averaged thirteen miles an hour, and at times, during the voyage across the Atlantic, she moved, with steam and sail, at the rate of fifteen miles an hour. We believe this to exceed any iron-clad's time yet reported. Letters have been received from Capt. Comstock, and from Mr. Robeson, her efficient engineer, confirming the statements of the Italian officer, whose enthusiastic report we have printed. Capt. Comstock says she behaved as well as any ship he was ever in, that she rolled no more than ordinary ships, and that her seagoing qualities are in no wise impaired by her heavy armor.

There can be no doubt, therefore, that, in so far as sea-worthiness is concerned, the world has, at last, an iron-clad capable of traversing any sea upon the globe. The Great Powers of the old world will have more reason to rejoice than ourselves, for with these ships they can strike us the only effective blows which modern naval science has left them. Their own most formidable iron-clads can hardly venture outside their harbors, where they are doomed to inglorious inactivity. Yet the Re d'Italia can steam, unhurt, into any port or cross any ocean that has hitherto been open to ordinary ships of war. She is destined to create a profound sensation in European naval circles, and England, now pleasantly indulging the report that she has foundered at sea, will soon awake to the full appreciation of her overwhelming superiority.

The question of the vulnerability of her armor remains to be tested. But in this particular she stands upon the same footing as the best of her rivals. Having greater speed, and being more easily handled, she will have advantages that are likely to turn the tide in her favor.

The Re d'Italia was built for the Italian Government by Wm. H. Webb, and is his second great triumph. His first, the General Admiral, the pride of the Russian Navy, the war yacht of the Grand Duke Constantine, has long since asserted her claim to be called the best ship of her class afloat.

A Caution.

We observe a notice inserted in some of the City papers, credited to the New-York Times, very strongly indorsing and commending Dr. Von Eisenberg and his treatment of diseases of the eye and ear. The notice was an advertisement and should have been so marked. Any attempt to give it currency, as embodying the editorial opinion of the Times is a fraud. We know nothing whatever of Dr. Von Eisenberg as a professional man or of his system.

Amusements.

The season at the Academy of Music closed on Saturday. During the present week the company will be occupied with rehearsals of "Les Huguenots," Meyerbeer's master-piece. On Monday, Mr. Maretzek essays a short season, with this fine work as the principal attraction. The prices of admission will be slightly increased, so as to present a fair prospect of success to the manager. Mr. Maretzek has always been the consistent advocate of low prices, but the time has come when an alteration in the rates of admission is rendered absolutely necessary. So far not a single murmur has been heard on the subject.

The announcements at the various theatres to-night are as follows: At Wallack's, "Rosedale;" at Niblo's, Mr. and Mrs. Barney William's, in the "Connie Soogah;" at the Winter Garden, "Fazio;" at the Olympic, "Our Wife," and "Loyalina;" at Barnum's Museum, "Pomp of Cudjo's Cave." (This play, by the way, has created the most extraordinary sensation. It is excellently acted and put upon the stage.)

The fifth and last Philharmonic Concert of the season took place on Saturday night; and, for a wonder, there was not a jam. Even the Philharmonic Society, it seems, has felt the influence of the Sanitary Fair. Would that it could feel other influences as quickly. Mr. Bergmann conducted, and the programme was thoroughly varied and excellent. Usually this gentleman's partiality for the new school—a partiality which we freely confess he has ably justified—leads him to extremes. There are sufferers who yet remember his last programme, and recall the "Faust Symphony" with groans and execrations. On this occasion, however, Mr. Bergmann's eclecticism was beyond reproach. The past, the present and the future were represented, and an evening's entertainment provided which we have rarely had equaled. Schubert's Symphony in C, with which it opened, has been played before by the society, but never so well as at this concert. Although of inordinate length, even when the "repeats" are omitted, and of vague coherency as regards strict form, it never for a moment ceased to charm and interest the audience. The melodic gems, with which the work is studded, were preserved with rare delicacy, and the "harmonic tissue"—sometimes extremely fine spun and sometimes as coarse as matting—was never strained. Bergmann is always happy in works that abound in partial climaxes and lengthy episodes. He is never deceived by them, but graduating the orchestra to their importance as a mere part of the whole, contrives to save his culminations for the right place. It is a fault of many conductors that by over-elaboration of subordinate themes they destroy the wholeness of effect and design contemplated by the composer..... The second part opened with Schumann's powerful overture to "Genoveva," (opus 81,) which also was admirably played. It is one of the works for which we have no special preference, being remarkable mainly for the technical skill with which a bold idea is preserved and presented. Rietz's Concert Overture in A, opus 7, brought the concert to a pleasant termination. It is a very meritorious production...... Signor Lotti was the vocalist of the occasion, and sang an aria from the "Magic Flute," by Mozart, and a romanza from "Euryanthe," by Weber, with ability. The progress made by this rising young artist is as noticeable as it is gratifying...... To Mr. Richard Hoffman we are indebted for the revival of Hummel's beautiful Concerto in A minor. This admirable pianist does not often play in public, but whenever he does so, places us under obligations both for the selection and performance of his pieces. Nothing could exceed the delicacy, clearness, and intelligence of his rendering of this truly charming production. It is a shame that so fine a player should only be heard once in a season.

Mr. Grau's company commences a new season in Cincinnati to-night.

We direct particular attention to an exceedingly interesting concert at Dodworth's to-night. It is given by Mr. F. Bergner, the well-known violoncellest. The programme is singularly fresh, and introduces several pieces which can only be heard on such an occasion; for instance, Mr. Bergner's own solos and Lachner's quartette for four violoncelles. The chief number of the octette by Mendelssohn in E flat major, opus 20, which will be played by Messrs. Thomas, Noll, Mosenthal, Reyer, Matzka, Schwarz, Bergner and Bergmann. We trust that Mr. Bergner will be rewarded with a good attendance. He is one of the best artists in the metropolis, and a constant worker for all that is good and correct in musical taste.

Grand Concert.—There will be a grand concert given this evening at the Atheneum for the benefit of the widow and children of George Rea. Mme. Borchard, Mrs. Abbot, Mrs. Kempton, Messrs. Castle, Campbell, Reiffe and Wood have volunteered, and the entertainment promises to be a fine one.

HONORS TO THE LATE GEN. TOTTEN.

The War Department has ordered appropriate honors to be paid to the memory of Brevet Maj.-Gen. Totten, his military career of more than half a century having been one of continued usefulness and distinguished services. For the past twenty-six years he was at the head of the Engineer Department, administering with untiring devotion, spotless integrity, and signal ability, the varied duties, the financial responsibilities, and the professional labors of that arm of the service, so essential to our national defence. The order further says that our extended line of lake defences and sea coast fortifications, many of which were planned by himself, are the enduring monuments to his memory.

The Alleged Conspiracy to Murder.

A HISTORY OF THE AFFAIR.

The arrest of John D. Lewis, of the firm of J. D. Lewis & Co., wholesale dry goods merchants of No. 101 Chambers-street, on charge of conspiracy to murder Mr. John D. Anderson, a merchant, was mentioned in the Times of yesterday. He was held to bale by Justice Shandley, in the sum of $5,000. The following are the papers on which he was arrested:

John H. Anderson, of No. 15 Ninth-street, in said City, being duly sworn, says: That he charges John D. Lewis, merchant, of No. 101 Chambers-street, with hiring one Ackerman and one John Macarthy and one Galvin to take his life; that he is informed by an officer of the Thirteenth Precinct that he overheard said Macarthy and Ackerman conversing upon said plot and quarreling about the blood money paid, and that both said Ackerman and said Macarthy have confessed to deponent that they were so hired.

John Macarthy, of No. 68 Oliver-street, being duly sworn, says: That about three weeks since John D. Lewis came to No. 68 Oliver-street, in the evening, and stated that a friend of his had been insulted by a man, and he wished him injured; that said Lewis saw deponent the same evening, and said that if deponent would beat a man for him he would give him $50, and deponent was to meet one Ackerman at 12 o'clock the subsequent Friday in Oliver-street, at the number aforesaid; that deponent did meet Ackerman at said time and place, and arranged to meet the parties, Galvin and Ackerman in Ninth-street, opposite a house in which John H. Anderson resided, and upon the signal of a hand being raised, whenever in the evening said Anderson entered or left the house, he was to cross and, with said Galvin and Ackerman, beat said Anderson; that said Ackerman was armed with a club; that last Sunday said Lewis again called on deponent at said No. 68 Oliver-street, and said that deponent had behaved meanly in not meeting said parties at said time and place, and that he would give him fifty dollars and a suit of clothes to get a man and beat said enemies of his; that deponent said he would go, and on Monday night last, having been paid one dollar to bind the bargain, met Ackerman at the corner of Grand-street and the Bowery; that a conversation was had about the money—how it was to be divided—and it was agreed to put the money into the hands of a bar-tender, corner of Baxter and Chatham streets, and it was done—the money to be given up when the two called for it afterwards; on Tuesday night last, Galvin and deponent went, about eight o'clock, to Anderson's house with Ackerman; Ackerman asked deponent if he had a club; deponent said "no;" Ackerman pointed out a club lying on some crockery, and deponent took it; the parties stood about fifty yards from Ackerman's house, and then Galvin and deponent refused to go any further and went home; that Ackerman, and Galvin and deponent met again on Thursday night last, corner of Grand-street and Bowery, and there told Ackerman they would not go further in the matter; it was agreed to draw the money, and it was drawn; the parties then disputed as to how the money was to be divided, and while disputing officers arrested all the parties, and then deponent discovered all the facts; the money was found on Ackerman by the officers.

Jeremiah Galvin, of the House of Detention, being duly sworn, says: That he has heard read the affidavit of John McCarthy, made in the matter of the complaint against John D. Lewis, and others, for conspiracy, and that the statements in said affidavit made are to deponent's personal knowledge true as far as they relate to deponent and his connection with said matter.

Patrick Burke, of No. 68 Oliver-street, being sworn, deposes and says: I am a bar-tender at No. 68 Oliver-street; am acquainted with both McCarthy and Jeremiah Galvin; was present when McCarthy was spoken to about beating somebody; this was about two weeks since; it was at No. 68 Oliver-street; the person who spoke to McCarthy was a dark-complexioned man, about five feet eight in height; had black hair, mixed with gray, and wavy; saw him again the same day; saw him yesterday in Oliver-street; he asked me "what was the matter?" I told him I did not know; he said there must be something the matter; I told him I had not seen the young man who went out with his friend; a man came to me to-day, and asked me if I knew anything about Lewis' case; he said Lewis thought I was not to be found; nothing was offered me to go away; he told me he would rather I would stay away; he was a man about five feet six inches in height, had long whiskers and a mustache; on the first occasion, when the dark-complexioned man made the bargain with McCarty, he asked me if Marley kept that place; I said, "Yes;" he then said, "A man in the City envied a friend, and he wanted to get satisfaction, and was told that Marley was the likeliest man in the City to get a man to beat him;" I told him that Marley would not do anything of the kind; he then asked me if I could get any one else; I told him that I did not know,—that I would point out a man to him, and he could ask him himself, as I would have nothing to do with it; I told him to come back to the house about 8 o'clock, and about that time he came; McCarty was there; he told McCarty he would give him $50 to beat this man; McCarty told him he would do it, and they parted at that; I saw this dark man about six or seven days afterward at the house No. 68 Oliver-street; he said he was willing to put the money in any respectable man's hands till it should be performed; he said he would as soon put the money in my hands as any other's; I said I would have nothing to do with it; McCarty was there also; they went aside and talked together, and after that I saw McCarty in company with another man; Joseph Ackerman, now here, is the said man; Ackerman told McCarty he would be rewarded if he would beat this man; McCarty said he would do it; there were other conversations between them.

Roswell G. Thompson, of No. 138 Chatham-street, being duly sworn, deposes and says: That on Monday or Tuesday last, to the best of deponent's recollection, two men called on deponent, corner of Baxter and Chatham streets; that deponent recognizes McCarty and Ackerman as said two men; that Ackerman said "I've agreed to give this man (meaning McCarty) $50 to perform a service, and if we come together, and we say we are satisfied, you are to hand him the money;" that said money was left, and on Thursday evening last, said parties called for the money; that Ackerman said, "You have not performed the business you have contracted to do, and have forfeited all claims, and I want it;" McCarty said, "I want $10 of it. I have been up and down;" that Ackerman said, "The money belongs to another man;" that McCarty said "I will not take the chances to go to State prison for four years for $50;" that McCarty clinched Ackerman; that deponent handed the money to Ackerman, and ordered them away and they left; deponent further says, that yesterday, a genteel looking man, with black curly hair, quite dark complexion, whom he can identify, if shown, called at the corner of Chatham and Baxter streets, conversed with deponent's father, Thomas Thompson, and afterward with deponent; that he asked, "What was the row here last night?" that deponent stated substantially to said person the same account of the said transaction given above, adding, "If I had known the dirty business they were on I would have kicked them out of the house;" that said party said that one of the parties had not been home all night, and his wife was anxious, and also said, "you don't think that is so;" that said McCarty had said in the presence of deponent to Ackerman, "You wished me to club a man's brains out;" and deponent further says, that said dark complexioned party called again several hours afterward, and said "Have you heard anything about that case;" that deponent said "no;" that said party expressed a fear that one of the men was killed; that deponent then suspecting the party, cut short the conversation and said party then left.

Thomas Thompson, corner of Baxter and Chatham streets, deposes and says: That on Friday last, at nine or ten o'clock in the morning, a person came into the store of this deponent; that said person had a dark complexioned person with black hair, and this deponent thinks, with black moustache; that this deponent is of opinion that he can identify said person if he is brought into his presence; that said person upon coming in asked this deponent whether he knew anything about some money that two men had put into his son's hands; that deponent answered "Yes, that two men were here and got into a dispute about the money, about the division, and in the course of the dispute, one of them let out what the money was put up for; he said he was to club a man, and as soon as we found out the nature of the business, its rascality, we ordered them out and put them out of the store," which was true; then said person said "I'm sorry for that; the man's been missing, and his family is alarmed about him;" that the said person left.

Robert Gray, of the Thirteenth Precinct deposes as follows: On Thursday night last, I arrested two men, named Ackerman and McCarty, on the corner of Suffolk and Broome streets; that deponent's attention was attracted by one chasing the other; deponent inquired into the difficulty, and ascertained from them that they were disputing about some money, which they said had been paid them for licking a man; deponent arrested them, and found $50 on Ackerman, which he acknowledged was given him to beat a man, and that he was to give the signal by holding up his hand.

A CARD FROM MR. LEWIS' COUNSEL.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In the various publications of the charge against Mr. J. D. Lewis, we discover several errors tending to his injury, which we deem it our duty to correct.

First.—Although Mr. J. H. Anderson charges in his affidavit a conspiracy to procure his death, he does not state a single fact to sustain that charge.

Second.—All that the affidavits of the witnesses pretend to charge is, that Mr. Lewis desired that Mr. Anderson should receive personal chastisement, or, to use the more definite language of one of them, Mr. Lewis wanted Anderson "licked," and we are confident, from the evidence in our possession, that this charge will be fully and satisfactorily met.

Third.—We are assured by Mr. Lewis and those connected with him in business that Mr. Anderson never was a partner of Mr. Lewis, and never sustained any other relation to him than that of clerk, which relation ceased more than one year since, and also that no feeling of jealousy or rivalry has at any time existed on the part of Mr. Lewis, or his firm toward the firm with which Mr. Anderson is now engaged.

Very respectfully yours,
CHAUNCEY SHAFFER,
A. J. DITTENHOEFER,
Counsel for J. D. Lewis.

Our "Grover & Baker."

PUCK—"I'll put a girdle round about the earth
In forty minutes."

We have a "Grover & Baker" up at our house. It is a wonderful machine, difficult to comprehend—less a man had taste for the finer mechanics, and strange in its motions from its very irregularity. It stands in our front chamber, in the north-east corner, between two windows. The earliest beams of the morning gild the black-walnut casket which encloses it, and the red shadow of the sunset linger among its steel axles and cunning contrivances. It stands where all its clock-work and ever curious spring are open to the daylight, and yet we have studied it long without being able to understand more than these two facts—that it does our family sewing, and saves us much in our household economy. But we have no skill in mechanics. We could hardly construct a cheese-press without a plan and a working-drawing. And this machine which seems so strange to us, may be plain and simple to a man who deals with steam-engines. We only see that here is a wheel, and there is a pulley, and here again are things that go up and down, and shoot across, and bob around generally, and there again, is a shirt, or pillow-case, or what-not, skillfully compacted and put together in every seam and gusset, and deftly made as by fingers expert in needle-work. We look at results—and in the light of results, we have sat and contemplated our "Grover & Baker." Content to admire the faculty, we leave to sharper wits the contrivance and the philosophy.

Pleasant to the eye is our "Grover and Baker." Its surroundings are of black walnut—gorgeous wood—carved in handsome devices—with grooves and panels, and an ornamented cover like the topmost story of a bureau. Pleasant to the eye, for its angles are not too sharp, and its curves and motions are full of grace, bending and swaying in the line of beauty. Gently turns the great wheel, beating in its revolutions like a stout heart—rousing up the smaller members—the springs and the pinions, the cams and the ratchets—and sending its strong impulse like the leap of the blood in the veins, up into the polished steel-arm, which seems to grow ruddy with the instinct of life, blushing in its work even as the arm of an industrious handmaiden.

Pleasant to the ear is our "Grover & Baker." We hear its musical hum at noon as we draw near our peaceful threshold, and we think of the hum of bees and the singing of birds, and all the sounds of the voluptuous Summer. Let the Winter frown, and the east wind blow, a warm breeze from the South floats into our dream—there is a gurgling brook in the gutter—a smell of pine trees comes from the garden over the way—in our parlor window a royal hyacinthe is waving its purple plume—in the sky are white clouds and whistling bobolinks, and everywhere it is June in its prime and beauty. Magical "Grover & Baker," singing madrigals that change the seasons in the twinkling of an eye, transforming icicles into blossoms—filling the air with odors, pencilling the gray shadow with fresh sunshine, and softening the howl of the gale to the whisper of a zephyr.

Pleasant to the mind is our "Grover & Baker." It suggests contemplations and economical calculations, which are a delight to the head of a family, and its statistics combining the achievements of mind over matter, and of steel wires over mortal sinews, are full of that saving health so nearly related to that virtue which once from funeral meats did furnish forth the marriage tables of royal Gertrude, "thrift, thrift, Horatio!" Pleasant to the mind, too, as it excites its curiosity, and fills it with admiration of a new triumph of human genius. Tell us not of McCormick's reaper; what is it to our little sewing-machine? Tell us not of the Pyramids; here is a little wonder of art which, in its curious skill, overtops pyramid and sphinx, Pompey's Pillar and Cleopatra's Needle, Karnak and Luxor, and all the monuments of ancient Thebes,

"Of which the very ruins are tremendous."

And what more shall we say of our "Grover & Baker"—ornament of the dwelling, sweet singer in the hours of labor, the housewife's solace, brilliant achievement of mechanical genius, wonder of human art. It sews and stitches; it quilts and tucks; it fells and binds; it runs up the regular seam and slopes down the eccentric gusset, and performs all those mystical evolutions which once belonged to traditionary Mary Annes—the shadowy seamstress of the past. And yet the story is but part told. That delicate needle, controlled by curious mechanism, is an artist's pencil, working in lights and shades with various cunning. Beneath the magic of its touch, the soberest fabric is changed to broidered tissues, the slipper blooms into roses and polyanthuses, waistcoats turn to flowering vines, and the maiden's kerchief—sheer and shadowy—becomes, like Othello's fatal gift to Desdemona, a charmed web of unimagined beauty. To speak plainly, our "Grover & Baker" embroiders as well as sews, gives something to beauty as well as to use, and combines with the practical facts of economy the æsthetics of higher grace.

Reader, are you the head of a family? you may, if you please, possess yourself of one of these magical machines. When we purchased our "Grover & Baker," we bought no exclusive right. It is vended in the City at a busy depositary near by that broad avenue known by the name of Dorrance. It is sold as merchandise in the market, and you may buy it with paper money, and use it, and contemplate it, as we have done, drawing morals from it, and philosophical reflections. You may bestow it as a token of affection on wife or daughter; or if you are an unmarried man, on some fair friend, who, like Byron's Maid of Athens, insists upon your heart; and the gift will be one of pleasant memories. We will not say, in hackneyed phrase, no family should be without it, for it sounds mercenary; but we may certify and aver, from an experience now three months old, that it enters the domestic precincts as an angel of peace, diffusing over piano, and hearth rug, and the noon-day table, an atmosphere most comfortable and balmy. It scatters by its presence those shadows of multiplying labors which at times settles down over the best regulated households. Clouds of unfinished garments, both inner and outer, and spectral mists of unsewed calico and muslin dissolve before it into satisfactory rainbows and golden glimpses of ease, and, like Prospero's insubstantial visions,

"Leave not a rack behind."

There are no vapors about our "Grover & Baker." Serene, yet earnest in purpose, it goes into the battle of life clad in an armor of iron and steel; it grapples with the stern necessities and stout facts of every day; it topples over old monuments of hard work; it cheers up fainting hearts like a tonic, and invigorates weary arms like an elixir; it deals with a flannel shirt as a trifle, and with a hooped farthingale as a matter of small moment; it is full of sweet and swift surprises, and, if need be, it will

DEMOREST'S NEW-YORK ILLUSTRATED NEWS.—This is the best illustrated paper published in America. Its articles are full of spirit and spice, and cannot fail to give it a reputation as a leader of public sentiment. To any one wishing to take an illustrated family paper we would recommend the News. Besides its editorial articles, it gives war matters, foreign affairs, congressional proceedings, &c. The publishers are just now offering special inducements to subscribers, as follows:

We propose to give each and every person who will send a year's subscription for the Illustrated News before the 1st of May next, Mme. DEMOREST'S Mirror of Fashions for one year without charge. The subscription to the Illustrated News and the Mirror of Fashions to commence with any number that may be desired. This proposition will also include Mme. DEMOREST'S premium of one dollar's worth of extra patterns. We would also call the especial attention of readers to the artistic merit and the general improvement of our illustrated paper, which, we think, will challenge comparison with any of our cotemporaries in any and every particular. We are also arranging to add still further new and additional features, making Demorest's Illustrated News preëminently the national family newspaper of America. Do not fail to subscribe immediately.—Bay City Press & Times, Mich.

Night Coughs.—For Asthmatic, Consumptive and Chronic Coughs, which are always more or less troublesome at night, unfitting persons for their daily occupations, and undermining the constitution, great relief will be experienced by taking at bed time one or two of "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Cough Lozenges, which will ensure ease and comfortable rest.

Morton's Gold Pens are now sold at the same prices as before the commencement of the war; this is entirely owing to the Manufacturer's improvements in machinery, his present large Retail Business and Cash-in-Advance System; for, until he commenced advertising, his business was done on Credit and strictly with the Trade.

The Morton Gold Pens are the only ones sold at old prices, as the makers of all other gold pens charge the Premium on the Gold, Government Tax, &c.; but Morton has in no case changed his prices, wholesale or retail.

Of the great numbers sent by mail to all parts of the world during the past few years, not one in a thousand has failed to reach its destination in safety; showing that the Morton Gold Pen can be obtained by any one, in every part of the world, at the same price, postage only excepted.

Reader, you can have an enduring, always ready, and reliable Gold Pen, exactly adapted to your hand and style of writing, which will do your writing vastly cheaper than Steel Pens; and at the present almost universal High-Pressure Price of everything, you can have a Morton Gold Pen cheaper, in proportion to the labor spent upon it and material used, than any other Gold Pen in the World. If you want one, see "The Pen is Mightier than the Sword," in another column.

ROMAINE'S CRIMEAN BITTERS

Have the indorsement of the highest medical authority of the U. S. Army, viz.:

SURGEON-GENERAL HAMMOND

AND

founded on a knowledge of their merits from trials in U. S. Hospitals, but more particularly from long personal use, to whom we are permitted to refer.

As an EXHILARANT TONIC, our composition is the perfection of Chemical and Medical Art, from the fact that though it exhilarates, no drowsy or stupefying reaction follows. In this regard we challenge the world to equal it. Here lies the objection, even if there were no others, against the use of other Exhilarant Bitters known to us, that they one and all excite the brain for a brief time, then a dull sleepy state ensues, thus rendering them unfit for the sick and convalescent, the student and those of all other sedentary occupations, as well as an exciting and inordinate appetite for Ardent Spirits. Those who have used the CRIMEAN BITTERS for months, uniformly declare the above to be true, and among them are Clergymen, Lawyers, and Students, whose names and post-office address will be given to any who will call at our office.

OFFICE OF POST-SURGEON,
BEAUFORT, S. C., Sept. 16, 1863.

MESSRS. W. CHILTON & CO.: The cases of CRIMEAN BITTERS have safely arrived, and the article has given unbounded satisfaction. I gave a case of it to Dr. Wurts, the Medical Director, who liked it at once, and it was well indorsed by Surgeon-Gen. Hammond who arrived the next day. I have distributed it for trial, and it is unanimously declared to be just the thing for this climate. Could you not with advantage establish an agency at this place? Dr. Hayden, the Post-Surgeon, wants a case sent to him by the next steamer, and I also want another.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

THE UNION,
"IT MUST AND SHALL BE PRESERVED!"
THE NORTHERN EAGLE,
An Independent, Loyal Newspaper, advocating the suppression of treason and the sustenance of TRUE CONSTITUTIONAL LIBERTY, is published at Milford, Pike County, Penn.,
EVERY TUESDAY MORNING,
EDWARD HALIDAY,
Editor and Proprietor.

Apart from its efforts to sustain the Nationality of our Country, and the Union of the States, by cheering the hearts of our soldiers in the field, and unmasking the designs of traitors at our firesides.
THE NORTHERN EAGLE
will be found one of
THE BEST FAMILY NEWSPAPERS
issued from the Country Press, as no pains or expense will be spared to secure the ablest writers on General Literature, Education, Correspondence, and every other topic of the day.

The want of a newspaper in Pike County giving to the Government an unqualified support in its efforts to suppress the rebellion now threatening our National existence has long been felt by the friends of the Union.

In no other county in the Commonwealth has the Peace movement inaugurated by Fernando Wood and his party so many friends and supporters. In no county is the Government so openly assailed, its policy so misrepresented, and the laws so openly defied.

THE EAGLE will give the Government a hearty and cheerful support in all its efforts to save the country, and will have no connection with those who are directly or indirectly in sympathy with the traitors of the South. Beyond this, THE EAGLE will know no party.

SPEKE'S AFRICA.

"More enchanting than a Fairy Tale, more exciting than a Novel."—London News.

HARPER & BROTHERS, NEW-YORK.
Publish this Day:

SPEKE'S AFRICA. JOURNAL OF THE DISCOVERY OF THE SOURCE OF THE NILE. By JOHN HANNING SPEKE, Captain H. M. Indian Army, Fellow and Gold Medalist of the Royal Geographical Society, Hon. Corr. Member and Gold Medalist of the French Geographical Society, &c. With Maps and Portraits, and numerous Illustrations, chiefly from Drawings by Capt. Grant. 8vo. Cloth, uniform with LIVINGSTONE, BARTH, BURTON, &c. Price $3 50.

It is a monument of perseverance, courage and temper, displayed under difficulties which have perhaps never been equaled.—London Times.

Unquestionably the most novel and valuable book of travel that has been given us these many years. * * * From the moment of starting, Capt. Speke's Journal presents a tale of strange, startling and unbroken interest to its close.—Nonconformist.

It is a great story that is thus plainly told; a story of which nearly all the interest lies in the strange facts related, and, more than all, in the crowning fact that frees us, in a large degree, from a geographical puzzle which had excited the curiosity of mankind—of the most illustrious emperors and communities—from very early times. —Athenæum.

A monument of heroic proficiency under circumstances the most appalling, and a treasury of new and surprising knowledge of many kinds. More enchanting than a fairy tale, more exciting than a novel, its greatest charm is yet that every word of it is true, and its thrilling revelations are recounted with a modesty which is, we suppose, as characteristic of true genius as it is of real bravery.—Daily News.

This is a tremendous feat—yet not a tithe of its dangers, difficulties and terrors are realized to the mind until after a perusal of Capt. Speke's artless but thrilling narrative. —Scotsman.

This thorough unconsciousness of all dangers or hardships, except as impediments to his progress to the great fountain-head, seems to have been his real protection through the hundreds of days, on every one of which no respectable insurance office would have taken his life at any reasonable premium. As the fiercest wild beasts are said to be appalled by the eye that shows no impression either of risk or wrath, so the sanguinary potentates among whom our explorer went, demanding nothing but a clear path to the head of the Nile, but determined to get that, seem to have restrained in their amazement the natural impulses of their ferocity.—Blackwood's Magazine.

This is, indeed, a triumph for modern enterprise, and it is no wonder that it has thrown all our geographers into a fever of excitement and curiosity.—John Bull.

Capt. Speke has not only solved a great geographical problem by a remarkable exercise of tact, courage and perseverance, but has also written a most lucid and forcible account of it.—Guardian.

One of the most interesting books of travel ever composed.—London Review.

JACOB BROUWER, President,

ALBANY AND SUSQUEHANNAH RAILROAD COMPANY
(140 miles long)
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS FOR $1,000,000.
FOR SALE BY MARIE & KANZ, NO. 27 WILLIAM-STREET, NEW-YORK.

The undersigned now offer for sale $300,000 of the First Mortgage 7 per Cent. Bonds of the Albany and Susquehannah Railroad Company, (Ezra P. Prentice, President,) redeemable in New-York July 1, 1888, and convertible into stock at par within ten years.

The Bonds are in sums of $1,000 each, coupons payable Jan. 1 and July 1, in New-York City. They are executed to Daniel Drew and Alfred Van Santvoord, Trustees, and secured by a mortgage which "covers the whole of the said road, including the right of way, necessary real estate, superstructure, franchises and appurtenances belonging to, or to belong to the company; and is the first and a preferred lien thereon, except that one other mortgage, directed by a special act of the Legislature of the State of New-York to be executed to the City of Albany, to secure the payment of the principal and interest of $1,000,000 of bonds, to be issued by the said city as a loan in aid of the said road, which two mortgages are by the terms of the said act entitled to an equality of lien."

The length of road is 140 miles, entirely within the State of New-York, extending from the City of Albany to Binghamton on the Erie Railway, through a rich and productive region, forming valuable connections with other railroads at its two termini, and opening another avenue from the coal regions.

The first division of thirty-five miles from Albany to Schoharie has recently been opened for business; that portion from Schoharie to Oneonta, Otsego County, forty-five miles, has been let, and is now in progress; the balance is nearly ready for letting, and proposals are now advertised for grading and bridging fifty miles beyond Oneonta.

The cost of the first division, including rolling stock, is about $1,000,000, in addition to which $300,000 have been expended on the balance of the line; total expended to Jan. 1, 1864, $1,345,496.

The means of the company to complete the road, including what is already expended, are $2,000,000, individual and town subscriptions to the stock, of which $1,140,000 have been already paid in; $1,000,000 First Mortgage Bonds; $1,000,000 Albany City Loan, and $500,000 appropriated by the State of New-York, and payable one-half when the road is completed to Cobbleskill, forty miles; the balance when completed eighty miles—to Oneonta; total, $4,500,000. Estimated cost of the road when completed, $4,500,000, or about $32,000 per mile. The joint mortgages to secure the bonds issued by the company, and the bonds to be issued by the City of Albany, together $2,000,000, constitute a total lien of $14,300 per mile. MARIE & KANZ.

Resolved, That an installment of 25 per cent. upon all stock issued or subscribed for is hereby called, payable at the option of the stockholders, either to John Kerr, Treasurer of the Company, at Leavenworth City, or to Edward Learned, Financial Agent of the Company at No. 48 Pine-st., New-York, on or before the 20th day of May next, and that the Secretary is hereby directed to cause this notice to be published in two or more papers of general circulation in each of the States of Kansas and Missouri, and also in each of the cities of New-York and Washington.

Resolved, That all authority to any person or party heretofore conferred to act as an agent or representative of this company, or claimed to be possessed by any person or party, is hereby revoked and rescinded, and all agencies or authority hereafter shall only be exercised by persons or parties authorized or recognized by the present or future Board of Directors, and that the Secretary be directed to give public notice of the revocation herein contained. HENRY FOOTE, Secretary.

NOTICE.—TO THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE UNION PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY EASTERN DIVISION, formerly called the LEAVENWORTH, PAWNEE AND WESTERN RAILROAD COMPANY, and all others whom it may concern: At a meeting of the Stockholders of the above named company, held at Leavenworth on the 4th and 5th days of April inst., the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, By the contract of four parts between this company, John C. Fremont, Ross, Steel & Co., and Edward Learned, approved by this meeting, large and valuable concessions of his interests as a stockholder have been made by said Fremont to promote the speedy construction of the road; and, whereas, it is probable that similar concessions may be agreed to by other stockholders; therefore,

Resolved, That the said Learned, as the financial agent of the company, be authorized and empowered to negotiate with any parties, who are the holders or are interested in the stock of the company, for the transfer and delivery to him, as financial agent of such, and so much of said stock as such parties may be willing so to concede—to be by him used, disposed of or distributed, in like manner and for the same purposes, as is in said agreement provided, with reference to the shares agreed to be transferred to him by said Fremont, and in consideration therefor, the said financial agent is authorized and empowered to mark and indorse upon the certificates of shares which may be retained by such shareholders, severally, or to which they may be entitled upon making any such transfers, that such retained or so entitled shares are full paid and not subject to assessment; provided that such marking or indorsement shall not be made as aforesaid in any case so as to apply or be of effect, as to more shares in this company than shall be equal to one-fourth of the number of shares so transferred to the said financial agent in pursuance hereof by such shareholders respectively, and thereafter all such marked or indorsed certificates shall be deemed full paid for the number of shares embraced in such indorsements respectively, and the stockholders making the concessions and transfers hereinbefore provided for shall forever after be held by the company free from any payments or liabilities for, or on account of, or in any manner relating to the shares which they shall so severally transfer to said financial agent.

Resolved, further, In case it shall occur that from any cause any of the shares which may be transferred to the financial agent as aforesaid, or in pursuance of the aforesaid contract, shall at any time be found to belong wholly or in part to any other person or party, than the person or party who shall have so transferred the same, the said financial agent shall be and hereby is authorized, to transfer to such person or party, as shall so be found to be the rightful owner thereof, the shares so erroneously transferred to him.

Resolved, That the holders of certificates, obligations, or other memoranda issued in the name or on behalf of the company, which are claimed to entitle such holder to full paid or unassessable shares of the capital stock, be notified by the directors, by public advertisement, or in such other manner as the directors may determine, to present the same, together with any evidences of their right to require such shares to be made full paid or unassessable as aforesaid, to the Executive Committee of the company, in the City of New-York, within sixty days next following the issuing of such notices respectively, in order that all such certificates, obligations, or memoranda may be adjudicated, and proper formal certificates be issued in lieu thereof, in so far as such holders shall be deemed to be entitled thereto, by said Executive Committee. In case any holder shall refuse or omit to present his certificate, obligation, or memoranda, as aforesaid, and for the purposes and within the time aforesaid, or in case any of the evidences furnished as aforesaid shall be deemed by the Executive Committee to be insufficient to entitle the holder to such full paid shares, the officers of the company shall thereafter refuse to recognize or admit any liability of the company to make or issue full paid shares, on account of any such particular certificates, obligations or memoranda, or to treat the same in any manner as full paid shares, except upon the claims of bona fide holders thereof being established by due process of law, or upon competent legal evidence that such claims are obligations on the company, in the event of any irregularity or defective equity in the claim of any holder of any such certificate, obligation or memorandum, the Executive Committee are hereby authorized to adjust the claims of any such holder, in such manner as said committee shall deem equitable, and to cause to be issued in settlement thereof such number of full paid shares as said committee shall so deem to be just and equitable.

Pursuant to the foregoing resolutions, and to directions of the Executive Committee, all persons interested are requested to transmit to the undersigned, at his office, No. 48 Pine-st., in the City of New-York, such statements, propositions and papers as will render the proposed benefits available to them respectively, and secure the same within the time prescribed in the resolution: viz. sixty days from the date hereof.

EDWARD LEARNED,
Financial Agent, U. P. R. Co., E. D.
NEW-YORK, April 16, 1864.

U. S. 10-40 BONDS.

These Bonds are issued under the Act of Congress of March 8, 1864, which provides that all Bonds issued under this Act shall be EXEMPT FROM TAXATION by or under any State or municipal authority. Subscriptions to these Bonds are received in United States notes or notes of National Banks. They are TO BE REDEEMED IN COIN, at the pleasure of the Government, at any period not less than ten nor more than forty years from their date, and until their redemption FIVE PER CENT. INTEREST WILL BE PAID IN COIN, on Bonds of not over one hundred dollars annually, and on all other Bonds semi-annually. The interest is payable on the first days of March and September in each year.

Registered Bonds are recorded on the Books of the United States Treasurer, and can be transferred only on the owner's order. Coupon Bonds are payable to bearer, and are more convenient for commercial uses.

Subscribers to this loan will have the option of having their Bonds draw interest from March 1, by paying the accrued interest in coin, (or in United States notes, or the notes of National Banks, adding fifty per cent. for premium,) or receive them drawing interest from the date of subscription and deposit.

As these Bonds are exempt from municipal or State taxation, their value is increased from one to three per cent. per annum, according to the rate of tax levies in various parts of the country.

At the present rate of premium on gold they pay over eight per cent. interest in currency, and are of equal convenience as a permanent or temporary investment.

It is believed that no securities offer so great inducements to lenders as the various descriptions of United States Bonds. In all other forms of indebtedness, the faith or ability of private parties, or stock companies, or separate communities only, is pledged for payment, while for the debts of the United States the whole property of the country is holden to secure the payment of both principal and interest in coin.

These Bonds may be subscribed for in sums from $50 up to any magnitude, on the same terms, and are thus made equally available to the smallest lender and the largest capitalist. They can be converted into money at any moment, and the holder will have the benefit of the interest.

The fact that all duties on imports are payable in specie furnishes a fund for like payment of interest on all Government Bonds largely in excess of the wants of the treasury for this purpose.

Instructions to the National Banks acting as loan agents were not issued from the United States Treasury until March 26, but in the first three weeks of April the subscriptions have averaged more than TEN MILLIONS A WEEK.

Subscriptions will be received by the Treasurer of the United States at Washington, and the Assistant Treasurers at New-York, Boston and Philadelphia, and by the

NOTICE TO TAX-PAYERS.

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONERS OF TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS, No. 32 CHAMBERS-ST.,
NEW-YORK, Jan. 9, 1864.

Notice is hereby given that the ASSESSMENT ROLLS of the REAL and PERSONAL ESTATE of the City and County of New-York, for the year 1864, will be open for inspection and review from after MONDAY, Jan. 11, 1864 and will remain open till the 30th day of April, 1864, for the correction of errors and the equalization of the assessments of the aforesaid real and personal estate of the City and County of New-York. All persons believing themselves to be aggrieved, must make application to the Commissioners during the period above mentioned, in order to obtain the relief provided by law. The Act of 1859 provides that "During the time the books shall be open to public inspection, as hereinbefore provided, application may be made by any person considering himself aggrieved by the assessed valuation of his real or personal estate, to have the same corrected." If such application be made in relation to the assessed valuation of the real estate, it must be made in writing, stating the ground of objection thereto, and thereupon the Commissioners shall examine into the complaint, and if, in their judgment, the assessment is erroneous, they shall cause the same to be corrected. If such application be made in relation to the assessed valuation of personal estate, the applicant shall be examined under oath by the said Commissioners, who shall be authorized to administer such oath, or any of them; and if in his or their judgment, the assessment is erroneous, they shall cause the same to be corrected, and fix the amount of such assessment as they may believe to be just, and declare their decision thereon within thirty days after such application shall have been made to them. No reduction shall be made by the Board of Supervisors of any assessment on real and personal estate imposed under this act, unless it shall appear, under oath or affirmation, that the party aggrieved was unable to attend within the period prescribed for the correction of taxes, by reason of sickness or absence from the City.

FINANCIAL.

CONTINENTAL BANK, NEW-YORK, April 20, 1864.

AT A MEETING OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE CONTINENTAL BANK, held on the 20th day of April, 1864, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, since the last meeting of this Board the Providence of God has removed by death our esteemed friend and fellow-director, Elisha E. Morgan.

Resolved, That while we share in the general grief which this event has caused in the commercial community of which Capt. Morgan was an active and honored member, his loss is a source of peculiar regret to the members of this board, his associates in the management of this institution, of which he has been a director from its organization, to whose welfare he has greatly contributed, and which by his death is deprived of one of its most efficient supporters.

Resolved, That in retrospect of the life and character of our deceased friend, we recal with pleasure the sterling qualities by which he acquired his well-earned social and business reputation, and by which he endeared himself to all who knew him—his frank and genial bearing, his sense of justice, his manly independence and freedom from prejudice, his practical wisdom and his warm and generous sympathies, which in all private relations made him a firm and constant friend, and in the present crisis of our National affairs, manifested themselves in a sincere and devoted patriotism.

Resolved, That as an expression of the sympathy of this board with the family of the deceased in their bereavement, a copy of these resolutions, attested by the President and Cashier, be communicated to them, and that they be published in the daily journals.

A true copy from the minutes.

(Signed,) U A. MURDOCK, President.
Attest—C. F. TIMPSON, Cashier.

METROPOLITAN FAIR.

TO GAS COMPANIES AND CONSUMERS OF COAL.

The thousand tons of "South Leverson's Gas Coals," (contributed by George Elliot, of London, and the freight upon which was contributed by James McHenry, Esq.,) are soon expected to arrive by the ship Gibraltar at this port. As it is desirable to realize the largest amount possible from this munificent gift, the undersigned propose, if practicable, to sell the same "to arrive." Written proposals for the whole, or any part thereof, may be made to any one of the undersigned, and such proposals are now solicited.

As to the quality of the above coal, the undersigned refer to the following extract from a letter written by Cyrus W. Field, Esq., (through whose instrumentality this generous gift was obtained,) to the Rev. Dr. Bellows, viz.:

"This coal is the 'South Leverson's Gas Coals,' of the best quality, and should bring a high price at New-York at the present time. It has occurred to me that the different Gas Companies in New-York, Brooklyn, Harlem and Newark, might each be willing to pay an extra price for one or two hundred tons of these coals, as the entire amount that they sell for goes through the United States Sanitary Commission for the relief of our sick and wounded soldiers."

It is particularly desirable that this coal should realize as large an amount as possible for the object to which it is devoted, on account of the international character of the gift, the coal being the contribution of one large hearted English merchant, and the freight (amounting to £886 15s. 11d.,) of another.

MUSICAL.

CHICKERING & SONS

MANUFACTURERS OF GRAND, SQUARE, AND UPRIGHT PIANO-FORTES, No. 652 BROADWAY.—The superiority of these instruments has of late been amply demonstrated by the voluntary testimony of the foremost artists of the day, who claim for them excellencies of tone and workmanship hitherto unobtained by any other makers.

Mr. GOTTSCHALK's constant use of the NEW SCALE CHICKERING GRAND PIANO-FORTES has severely tested their musical qualities, and resulted in establishing the justice of the very flattering estimation in which they are held.

STEINWAY & SONS'

GOLD MEDAL GRAND AND SQUARE PIANOS are now considered the best in Europe as well as this country, having received the first Prize Medal at the World's Exhibition in London, 1862.

The principal reason why the Steinway Pianos are superior to all others, is, that the firm is composed of five practical pianoforte makers, (father and four sons,) who invent all their own improvements, and under whose personal supervision every part of the instrument is manufactured. Warerooms, Nos. 71 and 73 East 14th-st., between Union-square and Irving-place, New-York.

RAVEN & BACON,

PIANOS TO LET AND FOR SALE
ON INSTALLMENTS.

MASON & HAMLIN'S CABINET ORGANS, FOR FAMILIES, CHURCHES AND SCHOOLS—Recognized by the musical profession as greatly superior to Harmoniums, Melodeons and all other small organs. [See our illustrated catalogue for explicit testimony to their superiority, from a majority of the most eminent organists in America.] Prices, $85 to $500 each.

CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.—The great reputation which our Cabinet Organs have obtained, and the extensive demand for them, have induced dealers to advertise, in some cases, quite different instruments as Cabinet Organs, and in others to represent to purchasers that Harmoniums and other reed organs are the same thing. This is not true. The excellences of our Cabinet Organs, which have given them their high reputation, are the result not merely of the superiority of their workmanship, but also, in large measure, of essential differences in construction, which, being patented, cannot be imitated by other makers. From these arise their better quality and volume of tone and unrivaled capacity for expression. Warerooms in New-York, No. 7 Mercer-st.

MEETINGS.

AT A SPECIAL MEETING OF THE Board of Trustees of the "Five Points' House of Industry," held on Thursday morning, April 21, 1864, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Trustees of the Five Points' House of Industry have heard of the death of MR. BENJAMIN R. BARLOW, the Superintendent of the Institution, with deep regret. They recognize that God has called a faithful servant from labor on earth to His presence in heaven, and with humility and submission bow to the dispensation.

Resolved, That they consider it a privilege and a duty to place on record their estimate of the single-hearted devotion with which the deceased for the last seven years has administered the affairs of this Institution. During that period, notwithstanding severe family affliction and repeated attacks of fever and of disease incident to the locality, he ever made the Christian work of reforming the vicious, relieving the destitute and cherishing the youthful outcast his chief object, and from the first determined that the work the Master had assigned to him should be the labor of his life. And thus it has proved to be; for in the prime of manhood, and laboring for others amidst all the discomforts of a home in the Five Points, he has been suddenly called to "enter into the joy of his Lord." Long residence among the poor and the constant exhibition of the recklessness and dissipation that so often induces the indigence that prevails had not blunted his sympathies, while it had more fully taught him the exceeding depravity of the unconverted heart. He was more and more convinced of the necessity of a thorough conversion and of justification through faith in that Redeemer to whose cause he had consecrated all his own powers, and in whose merits alone he reposed all his own hopes of personal acceptance.

Resolved, That in recording this estimate of his services to the institution, they wish to express, at the same time, their sincere condolence with Mrs. Barlow and her family. To the tender mercies of the God of the fatherless and widow they with confidence commit her. Mr. Barlow was preeminently a devoted husband, and naught but a consciousness that his peace and rest with Christ are assured can afford any consolation to his widow. To that well grounded hope they affectionately direct her for succor and support during this period of severe trial.

Resolved, That the Board of Trustees, as a tribute of respect, will attend his funeral to the place of interment in Greenwood.

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be presented to the family, and furnished to the newspapers for publication.

THE SHIPWRECKED EQUESTRIANS.—A brief paragraph in our marine columns, last week, recorded the wreck of Spalding & Rogers' brig Hannah, near Barnegat, with twenty-eight artists, twenty horses, the portable amphitheatre, and the properties and wardrobe of the Ocean Circus, on its return from a two years' cruise in South America and the West Indies. No lives, and only two of the least valuable horses were lost; but the brig, amphitheatre and costumes were a total wreck, with most of the private wardrobe of the artists, and numerous curiosities, carefully garnered as mementoes of the long tour. These traveled performers have just reached the City, and are exciting a sensation among their professional brethren. They have voyaged over sixteen thousand miles, without the slightest disaster (excepting the loss of two of their number by yellow fever in Santiago de Cuba,) and have been received with unexampled favor by royalty, nobility, and democracy in the various capitals in their route, reaping a pecuniary harvest unprecedented in circus annals; left solid memorials of their sojourn in Rio Janeiro, Buenos Ayres, Montevideo, Bahia, Pernambuco, Porto Rico, and Cuba, in the shape of over twenty thousand dollars in charitable benefits and donations, and were on their way home to visit their friends and relatives, while refitting for another similar cruise to Constantinople and the ports of the Mediterranean.

Messrs. Spalding & Rogers are now negotiating for the construction of a new bark, portable amphitheatre and wardrobe for the Ocean Circus, so, that the contemplated visit to the Hellespont is still in a fair way of being realized; and it is rumored that they have made arrangements to introduce the company in this City in the iron Hippotheatron, while the preparations for the ocean trip are in progress.

Beside the artists taken from the United States two years ago (naturally selected for so long and important an expedition for their superior professional and private merits,) these managers bring back with them an addition to their troupe of two equestrians of great note on the other side of the equator—one a full-blooded descendant of the principal aboriginal sachem of Brazil and a protege of the Emperor, with a commission from the Government for the institution of an imperial hippodrome in Rio Janeiro; the other a Gaucho from the La Platte River, the most celebrated among the race of nomadic herdsmen, who almost literally live on horseback in the interior of South America; and an addition to their stud of five native horses from the Pampas, famous for their beauty, intelligence and spirit, and already well progressed in training for the ring.

The Import Entries of the past week amount to $7,468,933, against $4,622,012 same week last season. The Export clearances of Domestic Produce amount to $3,669,907, against $2,748,686 same week in 1863. The Export of Specie is $2,859,000, against $466,000 same week last year. The Customs for the week are $2,983,000.

The Commercial Tables of the Foreign Trade at New-York, which we publish above for nine months of the current Fiscal Year, give a total Import of Foreign Merchandise, (exclusive of Specie,) from 1st July, 1863, to 31st

March, 1864, of	$154,113,000
Add four weeks in April	21,030,457
Total to date	$175,143,457
Against same time last year	152,078,447
Increased Import since July 1	$23,065,010

The same tables make the Export of Domestic Produce and Miscellaneous Goods, including Foreign articles reëxported, from

July 1, 1863, to March 31, 1864	$122,960,000
Add four weeks in April	12,684,538
Total to date	$135,644,538
Against same time 1863	157,957,230
Decreased Exports since July	$22,312,692

The Specie Export from New York, from

July 1 to March 31, amounts to	$39,396,000
Add since April 1	4,235,000
Total to date	$44,631,000
Against same time 1863	48,541,000
Decreased Specie Export since July 1	$3,910,000

The trade of the past week, it will be noticed, was unusually active in the Import entries, and again large for Customs Duties. The latter already reach $9,214,000 in the month of April, against $3,893,000 for the whole month last year. The increase in Customs at this port alone, thus far in the fiscal year, is largely over 40 per cent. over last year, while the increased value of the Import entries is only 15 per cent. Foreign Goods are now arriving with greater freedom than the prospect of an immediate market would justify, but they are hastened from Europe and the West Indies in anticipation of higher rates for Customs Duties later in the season. The same apprehension is greatly stimulating the withdrawal of goods of the previous importation. The Export clearances of Domestic Produce, notwithstanding high prices for home consumption have shut off a good many articles of export for the time being, are on a fair scale, and thus far in April equal to last season. The export of Gold is large for the week on the freer supply from the Treasury.

The panic in the Stock market, noticed in our review of last Monday morning as prevailing at the close of the previous week, culminated on Monday night and Tuesday. The subsequent recovery was fitful or unsteady until Friday afternoon and Saturday, when the rise in prices was more general and decided. The market for Money continued very dear and excited until near the close of the week.

The price of Gold, on actual sales, at the First Board of the Stock Exchange, Saturday, was 175½; at the Second Board 177½ ⅌ cent. The shipments to Europe, $1,875,000, making for the whole week nearly three millions, which, coming out of the disbursements from the unusual store of Gold in the Treasury Office, for the May interest, &c., can be readily spared, and will pay a large amount of mercantile indebtedness abroad.

The old Banks being relieved since Friday of the checks drawn upon them which passed through the Treasury Office for Gold, Gold Certificates, &c., felt much easier, and certified the checks of the Brokers with more confidence. These checks passing through the Clearing House, involve but an inconsiderable demand for Greenbacks or any other species of legal tender. A token in the shape of what in ordinary business affairs is called a due-bill, but denominated at the Clearing-house a "Loan Certificate," is passed for resulting differences from the debtor to the creditor bank, and Money is thus called easy, and is so, for all the immediate uses of speculation, whether in Gold or Stocks, as the advance in prices abundantly shows.

At 4 o'clock the following quotations were made in comparison with Friday afternoon, same hour. The Government Stocks participated in the rise of the day, and the sales of the 10-40 bonds were $246,500 at the First, and $96,000 at the Sixth National Banks. The adverse War news had its influence on Gold.

RECENT TESTIMONIALS.

CATARRH CURED.
FROM REV. FRED. S. JEWELL,
PROFESSOR OF THE STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, ALBANY, N. Y.

This may certify that I have been, since 1844, subject to violent periodical attacks of catarrh, marked by a highly inflamed condition of the lining membrane of the cavities of the head, producing a most distressing species of headache, for days at a time, wholly incapacitating me from business, and, during the paroxysms, confining me to the bed. In some instances the inflammation has extended to the teeth, occasioning toothache; to the throat, producing hoarseness and partial loss of voice; and twice it has so affected the left eye as to confine me for a month or more to a darkened room. These attacks have been accompanied by strong febrile symptoms; by stoppages of the head, and in the first stages by watery discharges from the nose, and subsequently becoming acrid and yellow, and, toward the close of the attack, becoming bloody and purulent. I have tried medicines of almost every kind; external applications to the head, such as camphor, ginger, hot vinegar, snuffs of some half dozen kinds, and other catarrhal preparations, together with internal remedies, such as alteratives, cathartics and emetics. These have produced no change in the occurrence or character of the disease, and, in most cases with little or no temporary relief. I had come, at length, to believe the disease to be practically beyond either cure or material alleviation.

Under these circumstances, I was led, some five months ago, to make a trial of Dr. Lighthill's treatment. His method at once approved itself to my judgment as simple, philosophical, and likely to be effective. Notwithstanding the disadvantages under which he labored in dealing with a disease of such long standing, aggravated by nervous debility and dyspepsia, and constantly induced by the accidents of my professional labor, I found the treatment reaching the disease as it had never been reached before, and producing such a modification and alleviation of its character as I had supposed impossible. I chronicle the result thus:

Although I have been situated several times so that I should formerly have believed a severe attack of my catarrh inevitable, I have escaped thus far; the symptoms of threatened attack have been very light, and have yielded to the remedies employed by Dr. Lighthill, without the need of recourse to the old hot fermentations, or emetics, and the discharges from the head have resumed the original and natural condition. That I have been able to obtain so material a relief is to me a cause of gratitude. In that alone I am repaid for whatever the treatment may have cost me.

I make this statement unsolicited, as a means of acknowledging my obligations to Dr. Lighthill's method of treating catarrh, and with a view to aid any who may have suffered from that disease in forming a just opinion of its merits, and its probable utility in their own case.

FREDERICK S. JEWELL.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 14, 1864.

REMARKABLE CURE OF DEAFNESS.

From Rev. Joseph M. Clarke, Rector of St. James' Church.

SYRACUSE, Feb. 20, 1864.

I have been deaf in one ear ever since I was in College, some twenty years ago. By the skill of Dr. Lighthill, its hearing was entirely restored, so that now I hear alike with both ears, and I find that I can use my voice with much more ease and comfort than before.

JOSEPH M. CLARKE.

From the Rev. John Nott, D. D., Professor in Union College, Schenectady.

Since I first publicly acknowledged the great benefits which I received from the skillful treatment of Dr. Lighthill, in regard to my hearing, letters of inquiry have incessantly poured upon me from all parts of the country, from parties desiring to learn the particulars of my case, and I am indeed surprised at the number of individuals who are affected similar to the manner in which I have been, and, therefore, feel it more and more a sacred duty which I owe to these sufferers, to direct them to a proper and reliable source to obtain the benefit they so much covet, and which so many afflicted ones have hitherto sought in vain, just as I had done previous to applying to Dr. Lighthill.

I had from infancy one very deaf ear, which always discharged more or less offensive matter, and was the source of the greatest annoyance and discomfort to me. Last year the other ear also became diseased, and both ears discharged a yellow matter, very profuse and highly offensive. My hearing became very much impaired, and the discharge produced the greatest debility of body and depression of spirits. I applied to my family physician and other practitioners, without deriving any benefit, and almost despaired of being restored to health, when, providentially, I applied to Dr. Lighthill. Under his treatment my ears began to improve at once, and continued to do so until, in a comparatively short time, both ears were healed, the discharge removed, and my hearing restored. At first I feared the cure would not be permanent, or that the stoppage of a discharge of so long standing might prove detrimental to my general health—a fear which I find a great many entertain in regard to the removal of discharge from the ear. My experience, however, has proved conclusively that my apprehensions were entirely groundless in both respects, for both ears are as well, and my hearing is as good at present, as the day I left off treatment, and the stoppage of discharge, instead of proving detrimental to my health, has given the highest elasticity and vigor to my body, and a flow of spirits not experienced for a long time previous.

I wish that the above might serve as a general answer to the interested, but should one or the other desire to apply to me personally, or by letter, I will cheerfully satisfy reasonable demands upon my time.

I avail myself of this opportunity of again publicly expressing my deeply-felt gratitude to Dr. Lighthill, whom I esteem as a gentleman and a man of science, in whom the highest confidence may be placed. JOHN NOTT.

References to parties of the highest respectability residing in the City, who have been cured of Deafness, Catarrh, &c., may be had on application.

It has been from time immemorial the object of philanthropists to find some remedy for the ills of life, and scientific skill has for ages explored every avenue in order to discover the hidden secret. It has been, however, reserved for modern science to bring before the world the great destroyer of disease, and in HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS are concentrated all those virtues which tend to promote healthy and vigorous life. Unlike the generality of bitters, they are not an alcoholic mixture, but a pure tonic, composed entirely of vegetable substances. They are a positive cure for

It is, on the contrary, world wide, and the triumphs of this article have blessed alike the rich and the poor, while like the snow that falls gently on the earth, so this friend of mankind causes its blessing to descend upon the suffering and afflicted. Its virtues are known in every quarter of the inhabitable globe, and the wonderful cures which it is daily performing have won for it the highest post in the temple of science. With such recommendations, backed by incontestible and undoubted testimonials from those who have experienced its curative properties, giving to the public no assertion but what has passed through the crucible of truth, and supported by an array of splendid and hitherto unknown triumphs, what wonder is it that thousands rush to it for relief in the hour of danger.

NEW-YORK TESTIMONY.

From John B. Wickersham, Esq., firm of Wickersham & Hutchison, the celebrated manufacturers of fancy iron works, No. 259 Canal-st.:

* * * * *

I am the recipient from you of one of the greatest favors that can be conferred upon man, viz: That of health. For many years have I suffered from one of the most annoying and debilitating complaints that the human family can be afflicted with, Chronic Diarrhœa.

During the long time I was suffering from this disease I was attended by regular physicians, giving me but temporary relief. The cause seemed to remain until I was induced to try Hoofland's German Bitters. After the use of a few bottles of that valuable medicine, the complaint appeared to be completely eradicated.

I often inwardly thank you for such a valuable specific, and, whenever I have an opportunity, cheerfully recommend it, with full confidence in its reliability.

Truly, yours, JOHN B. WICKERSHAM.
NEW-YORK, Feb. 2, 1864.

From Julius Lee, Esq., firm of Lee & Walker, the most extensive Music Publishers in the United States, No. 722 Chesnut-st., Philadelphia:

FEBRUARY 8, 1864.

MESSRS. JONES & EVANS—GENTLEMEN: My mother-in-law has been so greatly benefited by your Hoofland's German Bitters that I concluded to try it myself. I find it to be an invaluable tonic, and unhesitatingly recommend it to all who are suffering from dyspepsia. I have had that disease in its most obstinate form—flatulence—for many years, and your Bitters has given me ease when everything else has failed. Yours truly, JULIUS LEE.

From that well known citizen, the

HON. JACOB BROOM:

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7, 1863.

GENTLEMEN: In reply to your inquiry as to the effect produced by the use of "Hoofland's German Bitters" in my family, I have no hesitation whatever in saying that it has been highly beneficial. In one instance, a case of dyspepsia, of about thirteen years' standing, and which had become very distressing, the use of one bottle gave decided relief, the second effecting a cure, and the third, it seems, has confirmed the cure, for there has been no symptoms of its return for the last six years. In my individual use of it, I find it to be an unequaled tonic, and sincerely recommend its use to the sufferers.

Truly yours, JACOB BROOM, No. 1,707 Spruce-st.

The following well-known reverend gentlemen have acknowledged in writing the great benefits they have received from the use of these Bitters. Such testimony must certainly convince the most sceptical:

Rev. Levi G. Beck, Pastor of the Baptist Church, Pemberton, N. J., formerly of the North Baptist Church, Philadelphia.

Rev. Thos. Winter, Pastor of Roxborough Baptist Church, Pennsylvania.

Rev. J. S. Herman, of the German Reformed Church, Kutztown, Berks County, Penn.
